ARTIST WITH KERALA ROOTS HITS FIFA GOAL WITH WC SONG

RONNIE KURIAKOSE @Kochi

WHEN the carnival of the beautiful game kicks off in Mexico City on Thursday, it will carry an Indian imprint unlike any before. Siir Siir, choreographed by Rajit Dev, a Mumbai-based artist with Kerala roots, is one of the 18 songs in the official World Cup album and is set to be played at the opening ceremony.

Rajit becomes the first Indian, and the first Malayali, to be associated with an official FIFA World Cup album.Though born and raised in Mumbai, he traces his tryst with dance to his roots in Kerala. "My family hails from Shornur. And like every south Indian family, my parents too wanted my sister to learn dance. My connection with dance began almost by accident. When my mother enrolled my sister in Bharatanatyam classes, I had to accompany her," Rajit told this newspaper. However, what began as a sibling responsibility soon turned into a passion. Rajit underwent formal Bharatanatyam training and completed his arangetram.

He went on to collaborate with actors such as Ranveer Singh and Nora Fatehi. It is his decade-long creative partnership with the latter that has now led him to football's biggest stage. According to Rajit, the FIFA opportunity presented a unique challenge. Featuring artists from diverse backgrounds, the song Siir Siir demanded a visual language that could resonate globally while retaining a distinctive identity.

"I wanted to make it look global, yet the energy and soul had to be Indian," he said. "When I listen to a song, I let my body react to it. The music dictates the moves. That's what I've done here as well," said Rajit.

Fresh blow for TMC in RS; exits likely in LS too

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THE exodus in Trinamool Congress (TMC) continued with Rajya Sabha MP Sushmita Dev resigning on Wednesday, dealing another blow to the party. Dev is the second TMC MP to step down within a week, following the resignation of Sukhendu Sekhar Roy, a close aide of party chief Mamata Banerjee. Dev's resignation has been accepted by RS Chairman C P Radhakrishnan.

Names of Mamata's loyalists including Saayoni Ghosh, Mala Roy, Mitali Bag, Yusuf Pathan and Shatrughan Sinha are being linked to the rebel bloc.

Sources said Dev is likely to join BJP as she met Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma after tendering her resignation. A former Lok Sabha MP from Assam's Silchar constituency, she quit the Congress following her defeat in the 2019 general elections.

The TMC later appointed her as its national spokesperson and subsequently nominated her to the Rajya Sabha.

While she declined to comment on Mamata or her future political plans, Dev said, "It's my individual decision, what kind of politics I want to do and who should be my leader. I have my reasons and that's why I have made my decision." On reports of her joining the BJP, she said, "When I take a decision I will let you know."

Earlier, Sukhendu Sekhar Roy, TMC's chief whip in the Rajya Sabha for 13 years, cited widespread public dissatisfaction with the party while announcing his resignation.

Mamata's meeting with Congress Parliamentary Party chairperson Sonia Gandhi and Abhishek Banerjee's meeting with Rahul Gandhi on Wednesday, also sparked chatter over the future course of the diminished Mamata-led TMC faction. However, Congress has dismissed reports of merger of the two parties. "Some news reports on what supposedly transpired in the meeting between Sonia and Mamata are completely inaccurate. The meeting was very cordial and many personal matters were talked about," Jairam Ramesh said.

Denial of RS seat won't change ties with Modi: Gowda

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Bengaluru

AMID Congress mocking NDA that BJP left former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda in the lurch by denying him the lone Rajya Sabha that the alliance could have won from Karnataka, the JDS supremo on Wednesday clarified that he was not interested in the seat and his relationship with Prime Minister Narendra Modi would not be strained because he was denied the ticket that he did not want.

He told the media in Bengaluru that it is a misconception if the Grand Old Party believes that the relationship between him and Modi would be affected over an RS seat. The 93-year-old patriarch said the JDS bond with BJP remains strong and his son HD Kumaraswamy will continue as Union minister with the prominent heavy industries and steel portfolio. NDA hails Modi for becoming longest-serving elected PM

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet passed a special resolution hailing Narendra Modi for becoming India's longest-serving elected prime minister on Wednesday. Titled 'Abhinandan Prastav', the resolution described June 10 as a historic day in the country's democratic journey. It was adopted hours before the ruling NDA met to celebrate 12 years of the government under Modi's leadership.

The Cabinet meeting began with a standing ovation to the prime minister for having completed 4,399 consecutive days in office, surpassing the record of Jawaharlal Nehru, who served continuously for 4,398 days between 1952 and 1964.

The resolution described the occasion as "a symbol of India's democratic consciousness, public trust, and the power of public participation". It said the milestone reflected the strong support of the people to a leader who is always guided by the 'Nation First' principle. The resolution pointed to another approaching milestone — Modi's 25 years of continuous service as the head of government, adding his leadership has been marked by sensitivity, restraint, determination and decisiveness.

At the NDA meeting, the ruling alliance resolved to continue working towards the goal of a Viksit Bharat under Modi's leadership.

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

FOR DK Shivakumar, none of the official residences traditionally associated with Karnataka chief ministers -- Krishna, Cauvery and Anugraha -- will do, as he has picked the historic Kumara Krupa bungalow to stay and conduct his official duties.

The 160 year-old heritage structure, among Bengaluru's oldest surviving buildings, is currently undergoing renovation and is expected to be ready within two months. Located a short distance from the existing chief ministerial residences, the bungalow has till now functioned as a government guest house. The sprawling building has 12 spacious rooms, large halls, a kitchen and other facilities. The Public Works Department's renovation work includes flooring, electrical works, carpeting, painting and restoration. Age-old teakwood doors, windows, cabinets and almirahs give the building an old charm. P4

CM MEETS KHATTAR, SEEKS NOD FOR CITY'S MOBILITY PROJECTS

Requests early clearance for projects worth ₹13,549.6cr

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar greets Union Housing and Urban Affairs Minister Manohar Lal Khattar in New Delhi on Wednesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister DK Shivakumar urged the Centre to expedite approvals for several major infrastructure projects in Bengaluru, including the Metro Phase-3A, revised Phase-2 costs, a double-decker flyover integrated with Metro Phase-3 and Regional Rapid Transit System (RRTS) corridors connecting Bengaluru with neighbouring cities.

The CM met Union Housing and Urban Affairs Minister Manohar Lal Khattar on Wednesday to discuss pending urban infrastructure proposals and submitted the request letter to him.

The letter sought early clearance for projects worth Rs 13,549.6 crore, submitted under the Centre's Urban Challenge Fund (UCF). These include an elevated corridor project worth Rs 6,287 crore, nine new sewage treatment plants (STPs) at a cost of Rs 1,350 crore and two packages of the Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) valued at Rs 5,912 crore.

Of these, the National Apex Committee has already approved six STPs at Madiwala, Bellandur, Kadubeesanahalli, Koramangala, Byramangala and Mylasandra, with central assistance of Rs 337.5 crore. Karnataka has requested approval for the remaining projects, for which central support of Rs 2,439.9 crore is being sought.

The CM also pressed for approval to proceed with the proposed double-decker structure on Metro Phase-3, featuring a road flyover at Level-1 and a Metro viaduct at Level-2 covering 37.1 km at an additional cost of Rs 9,700 crore to be fully funded by the state government.

He also sought Union approval for the revised cost of Metro Phase-2, which has risen from Rs 26,405.14 crore to Rs 40,425.02 crore and for Metro Phase-3A, a 37.8-km corridor from Sarjapur to Hebbal estimated at Rs 25,999 crore.

The letter sought approval for RRTS corridors linking Bengaluru with Mysuru, Kanakapura, Tumakuru, Chikkaballapur and Kolar, similar to the rapid rail network being developed in the Delhi-NCR region. The state said these projects are critical for addressing Bengaluru's growing mobility and congestion challenges.

Ashoka sees ₹10k cr kickback in waste tender

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the Legislative Assembly R Ashoka on Wednesday alleged that the new Rs 39,000-crore tender for garbage clearance included a kickback of Rs 10,000 crore.

Instead of inviting tenders every year, this time a 30-year contract with a provision for a five-year extension has been awarded to Delhi's MSWS Solutions Limited or its parent company Ramky, he told reporters here.

Currently, Rs 514 crore is spent annually on garbage collection and transportation in Bengaluru, Rs 380 crore on processing and disposal of garbage, and Rs 444 crore on salaries of 11,000 pourakarmikas, he said.

Ashoka and other BJP leaders from Bengaluru met Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot and submitted a memorandum to him seeking an inquiry into the alleged irregularities in the Integrated Solid Waste Management tender process by BSWML.

He sought an independent and time-bound inquiry into the tender process, including relaxation of certain conditions that reportedly allowed the disqualified bidders to qualify.

The inquiry should start from the detailed project report stage itself -- revisions made to the DPR, tipping fee calculations, and approval of tender premiums, Ashoka said.

The BJP leaders said the decisions related to land acquisition and enhancement of compensation should also be probed. Seeking a thorough background check of Ramky's operations in Karnataka, they said the company faced criticism over management of the landfill project at Mavallipura.

Stating that tenders were called twice earlier, they said while no bidder participated in the first tender process, three bidders participated in the second one for north and south packages. However, the bidders were declared technically disqualified. Surprisingly, the same bidders were declared technically qualified in the third tender process.

Ashoka said the government ignored the views and suggestions from its own company and selected an unqualified company as its consultant. The new tender allows the company to take a loan of Rs 1,500 crore. The land for the project has been provided by the government.

He said the current tipping fee is Rs 260 per tonne. But in the new tender, it has been increased to Rs 2,400 per tonne, a 950% hike. If the old rates are continued, the cost for 30 years would have been Rs 6,117 crore. But in the new tender, it is Rs 39,437 crore, resulting in an additional burden of Rs 33,320 crore, he alleged.

A copy of the memorandum was submitted to the Lokayukta.

GET IT PROBED, SHIVAKUMAR DARES BJP

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday accused Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Assembly R Ashoka of acting as a spokesperson of Bengaluru's "garbage mafia". Denying the allegations of BJP leaders, Shivakumar said a powerful lobby prevented reforms in garbage collection for years. He challenged the BJP leaders to get an investigation conducted by any agency into the new tender process. Private firms are set to invest Rs 6,000 crore in waste management infrastructure, he said. Shivakumar said the BJP leaders did not want to see him as CM and indulged in "jealous politics". He maintained that the tender process received court's approval and that his government ensured transparency in it. ENS

K'taka concludes ELEVATE NxT '26, shortlists 256 DeepTech startups

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government's Department of Electronics, Information Technology and Biotechnology (IT/BT) on Wednesday concluded the 2026 edition of ELEVATE NxT, its flagship DeepTech startup support programme under the Local Economy Accelerator Programme (LEAP).

The programme, which expanded the scope of the state's long-running ELEVATE initiative to a national level, received 983 applications from DeepTech startups across India. Following a multi-stage evaluation process, 256 startups were selected as finalists.

"From evaluating 983 startups to hosting 256 finalists at the grand finale, we completed the entire process in a record 60 days. This reflects Karnataka's unmatched innovation ecosystem and our commitment to enabling cutting-edge entrepreneurship," said IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge.

ELEVATE NxT builds on the ELEVATE programme, which has supported early-stage startups in Karnataka for nearly a decade. Unlike its predecessor, the new initiative invited applications from DeepTech startups nationwide.

This year, startups from sectors including artificial intelligence (AI), machine learning (ML), quantum technology, space tech, health tech, cleantech and mobility participated in the programme. Of the 983 applications received, 661 startups were shortlisted for in-person pitching sessions before the field was narrowed to 256 finalists for the grand finale.

Selected startups will be eligible for grant-in-aid support of up to Rs 1 crore each, along with milestone-based funding, domain-specific mentorship and structured ecosystem support.

Assn seeks free Metro passes for students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Metro Commuters Association (BMCA) has urged the state government to extend its recently announced free bus pass scheme to Namma Metro by introducing free metro passes for students, arguing that it would promote educational access, public transport usage and safer commuting.

In a statement issued on Wednesday, BMCA welcomed the government's decision to provide free bus passes to students across Karnataka but said the initiative would be more effective if metro travel was also included, creating a seamless public transport network for students.

The association said transportation costs should not become a barrier to education and noted that free metro travel would enable students from diverse socio-economic backgrounds to access schools, colleges and libraries across Bengaluru without additional financial burden on their families.

BMCA also argued that free metro access would help inculcate public transport habits among younger generations, reducing long-term dependence on private vehicles and contributing to a more sustainable urban transport system.

East-facing bungalow aligns with Shivakumar's Vaastu preference

THE stone-clad exterior continues to stand out as an architectural landmark.

The east-facing bungalow is said to align with Shivakumar's Vaastu preferences. His Vaastu advisers had earlier recommended changes to the seating arrangement in the chief minister's chamber at Vidhana Soudha and got his chair turned to face East. Even while taking his oath, he faced east, which is considered auspicious.

Now, Deputy Speaker Rudrappa Lamani is staying in one of the rooms at the Kumara Krupa guesthouse. He will shift to the new Kumara Krupa guesthouse. Three rooms contain files related to the alleged scam during Covid, and those too will be shifted to Arogya Soudha off Magadi road.

Former chief minister Siddaramaiah is staying in Cauvery and is unlikely to vacate it. He may ask for its allotment to his son and minister Dr Yathindra, sources said. Officials are also considering demolishing a government building within the premises to construct a meeting hall.

Historian Suresh Moona said the bungalow was a private residence of Sir K Seshadri Iyer, the Dewan of Mysore who served under Maharajas Chamaraja Wadiyar and Krishnaraja Wadiyar IV between 1883 and 1901.

"At that time, this was Bengaluru outskirts and situated on an elevated ground. Seshadri Iyer was a progressive Dewan who laid the foundations for a modern Bengaluru. During his tenure, the city received electrified streetlights which was first in Asia. Also, water was being pumped from Hesaraghatta. Seshadripuram and Seshadri Road are named after him," Moona said.

Seshadri Iyer was a devotee of Lord Kumaraswamy (Shanmukha) and hence named his residence Kumara Krupa. "Given its historical significance, the building should ideally have been preserved as a memorial rather than converted into a residence," he said.

The bungalow also carries historical value. Mahatma Gandhi stayed here during his visit to Bengaluru in 1927, and former chief minister S Nijalingappa once made it his residence.

Many raised concerns over turning the heritage property into chief minister's residence. The lush green surroundings could face increased pressure due to security arrangements, VIP movement and rising vehicular traffic. In the coming years, there could be demands for additional parking and infrastructure. That may put some of the trees in the vicinity at risk, a source said.

11th June : Taurus Moon Menu The moon moving into the sign of the bull has our hunger speaking in growls, and not just the appetite for food, but also for adventure and touch, for beauty, comfort, meaning, for the mysterious something that might sate life's constant craving which, as k.d. lang croons, "has always been." So what's on your menu?

TAURUS
(Apr. 20 - May 20)
You'll create change the easy way. You'll focus less on "stopping" and more on "replacing." Instead of wrestling an old pattern to the ground every hour, you move to a different environment and engage with different people and challenges.

GEMINI

Move forward with great enthusiasm and the bold assumption that your wishes will be granted. The reason for this? Because the sheer energy of your excitement could be enough to charge the situation in your favor. So why not?

Different generations will find common ground in the more universal truths. You're also very open to learning about the nuances of style, topics of relevance and various worldviews that others are living inside. This makes it easier to relate to people of various ages.

AQUARIUS

You don't always need more motivation. Sometimes you need fewer obstacles between yourself and action. That's why everything you put into preparing your workspace will matter today. Small improvements in organization create big gains in productivity.

PISCES

NALAPAD CHARGESHEETED IN BITCOIN SCAM

Home minister says impartial investigation on, BJP leaders too may be named in the case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Pradesh Youth Congress Committee former president and Shantinagar MLA NA Haris' son, Mohammed Haris Nalapad, has been chargesheeted in the Bitcoin scam. On Wednesday, Home Minister Priyank Kharge said the police are conducting an impartial investigation and the names of BJP leaders too could emerge during the probe.

The Special Investigation Team (SIT) filed the chargesheet before a court on May 20. It names Nalapad, serial hacker Srikrishna alias Sriki and Robin Khandelwal as accused. The chargesheet, however, is yet to be allocated a criminal case number.

The SIT reportedly stated that Nalapad was one of the key beneficiaries of the 60-odd Bitcoins allegedly stolen by Sriki.

Kharge told reporters, "ED has summoned him (Nalapad). He may appear before them today or another day. Otherwise, they will take legal action against him as per law. According to my information, several more names, including those of BJP leaders, may emerge. The police are conducting an impartial investigation. However, the central agencies are targeting specific individuals. Those who have committed wrongdoing must face punishment."

The Directorate of Enforcement (ED), which is also probing the scam, has summoned Nalapad for the third time to appear before it for questioning. But Nalapad is yet to do so.

Recently, ED conducted searches at Nalapad's residence. The main accused in the scam Sriki, Khandelwal and Sunish Hegde were remanded to judicial custody last month.

Mobility Mission soon to ease traffic congestion: Priyank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO decongest the city, a Bengaluru Mobility Mission will be rolled out in collaboration with various agencies, Home Minister Priyank Kharge told reporters on Wednesday.

Kharge held a meeting with City Police Commissioner Seemanth Kumar Singh and senior police officers at the commissioner's office to review law and order, traffic management, cybercrime and other issues.

Kharge said to address Bengaluru's traffic congestion, the government has decided to focus not only on infrastructure improvements but also on rectifying systemic deficiencies. For this purpose, a Bengaluru Urban Mobility Mission team will be constituted in collaboration with BMTC, BMRCL and private stakeholders. A comprehensive blueprint for the initiative will be unveiled within the next two to three days, he said.

The minister said instructions have already been issued to establish anti-rowdy squads in every police station. Clear directions have been given that lower-level police officers should not participate in birthday celebrations of rowdy elements and take selfies with them. Any such misconduct will attract stringent disciplinary action.

When questioned about the rising cybercrime cases in the city, the minister said as Bengaluru is the world's fourth-largest technology cluster, cybercrimes have been increasing. To effectively tackle cybercriminals, a comprehensive policy will be formulated by integrating the efforts of the Home, IT-BT and e-Governance departments.

A meeting with private technology companies will be held next week to explore the adoption of advanced technologies and safety guardrails.

He further added that to curb drug menace, the Home Department has launched an intensive drive against drug networks. Additional testing kits will be provided at border areas to detect tablets and psychotropic substances entering in small quantities from neighbouring states such as Kerala, Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh.

The conclave, themed "Innovation and Entrepreneurship-Driven Growth for Viksit Bharat 2047", will bring together stakeholders from research, industry and academia to showcase innovations, products and services, while fostering collaborations.

Three CSIR constituent laboratories are jointly organising the event, the National Aerospace Laboratories (NAL), the Central Food Technological Research Institute (CFTRI) and the Fourth Paradigm Institute (4PI).

NAL Director Dr Abhay A Pashilkar also shared an update on the Hansa-NG, the next-generation version of the indigenous two-seater, single-engine trainer aircraft being developed by NAL. "More flying training organisations (FTOs) need to be established alongside aircraft production to ensure adequate pilot training capacity. PM India calls for Stronger Enforcement and Collaboration to disrupt Illicit Tobacco Ecosystem

As per the Tobacco Institute of India (TII), illicit cigarettes represent nearly one-fourth of the domestic market, with estimated losses of Rs. 23,000 crores per annum.

As per report released by EU-ABC and Euromonitor International, the illicit tobacco market across the ASEAN-6 generated an estimated US$12.6 billion in revenue over the past two years (2024–2025), with illicit cigarette sales growing by 14% and illicit e-vape sales by 24% in the past year alone.

On the occasion of World AntiCounterfeiting Day, Philip Morris India (PM India) reiterated its commitment to dismantle the illicit tobacco network through stronger enforcement and collaboration. As per the Tobacco Institute of India (TII), in India, illicit cigarettes represent nearly one-fourth of the domestic market, with estimated losses of Rs. 23,000 crores per annum.

Illicit tobacco trade is a growing global challenge, causing significant revenue loss through cross-border smuggling of illegal cigarettes. The issue has expanded beyond cigarettes to include banned and unregulated products like e-cigarettes and vapes, which often bypass regulatory checks.

As per a report released by EU-ASEAN Business Council (EU-ABC) and Euromonitor International, the illicit tobacco market across the ASEAN-6 generated an estimated US$12.6 billion in revenue over the past two years (2024–2025), with illicit cigarette sales growing by 14% and illicit e-vape sales by 24% in the past year alone. Demand for illicit tobacco is driven by lower prices and growing accessibility of smuggled products, while supply is facilitated by ASEAN's extensive and interconnected trade routes and uneven supply chain controls. These smuggled products are largely produced within the region in Indonesia, Cambodia with additional supply from China, while Malaysia, Singapore and Vietnam are key distribution hubs.

ApiraSol (an organization specializing in brand protection and supply chain intelligence) Report 'Smuggled Puffs: Illegal E-Cigarette Trade Across Borders', April 2026, highlights that the illicit e-cigarette trade is becoming a significant force reshaping the global nicotine market, fueled by rapid growth and mounting regulatory complexity. Furthermore, it states that the illicit e-cigarette market was valued at USD 47 billion in 2024, representing over 70% of global spending and roughly three-quarters of total volume- equivalent to 605 billion cigarettes.

As the Government of India deepens enforcement and sharpens regulatory capabilities to detect smuggled products, addressing the wider consequences of the illegal tobacco trade remains critical. Reinforcement data stresses the expanding scale of illicit tobacco across the country. Today, a broader ecosystem of banned and unregulated products are available in India that evade regulatory scrutiny.

Recent media reports flagged Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) led several major crackdowns, including a nationwide operation resulting in the seizure of nearly 3 lakh prohibited ecigarettes and vaping devices valued at over ₹120 crore. According to TII, in 2026, sustained enforcement by agencies has resulted in continued seizures of illicit cigarettes, including over 29.3 lakh sticks in Kolkata, 6 lakh sticks in Guwahati, 3.48 lakh sticks in Coimbatore, and 1.3 lakh sticks plus 95 boxes of foreign cigarettes in Chandigarh, reflecting the widespread and persistent nature of the black market across regions.

Stressing the need for enhanced anticounterfeiting regulations alongside closer collaboration, Navaneel Kar, Managing Director, PM India, said, "Illicit tobacco trade continues to evolve in scale and complexity, posing significant risks to government revenues, consumer safety, and regulatory integrity. What was once limited to counterfeit cigarettes has now expanded into a broader ecosystem of smuggled, banned, and unregulated products that evade oversight. Recent enforcement actions underscore both the scale of the challenge and the need for sustained intelligence-led interventions. Addressing this issue effectively requires stronger collaboration between industry and enforcement agencies, supported by robust systems such as track-and-trace to enhance transparency across the supply chain. At PM India, we are committed to leveraging our global experience and local partnerships to support authorities in strengthening compliance, safeguarding legitimate trade, and building a more secure marketplace."

India's fight against smuggled tobacco is increasingly critical, given its position as one of the world's largest tobacco markets and home to the second-largest smoking population. As a leader of the global south and an innovation hub, India, with its strong enforcement, can lead a concentrated regional effort to curb this menace and protect consumers from counterfeit products.

Cabinet expansion action shifts to Delhi

CM in national capital, meets Gandhis, will also attend NITI Aayog meet; young MLAs keep seniors on tenterhooks

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

WITH Karnataka Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on a three-day visit to New Delhi, action on cabinet expansion has now shifted to the national capital.

According to informed sources, the Shivakumar cabinet is likely to be expanded only after the June 18 polls to the Rajya Sabha and seven MLC seats in Karnataka. Twenty berths are still vacant in the cabinet after Shivakumar took oath as CM recently along with 13 ministers.

There was also a message from the Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha, Rahul Gandhi, saying that young legislators be given a chance to enter the cabinet. This had kept seniors like HK Pail, TB Jayachandra (special representative of Karnataka government in Delhi) and others on tenterhooks.

According to sources, Shivakumar, who will attend several events in Delhi, including the NITI Aayog meeting, has carried a list of names of legislators to be made ministers.

Shivakumar met Congress Parliamentary Party (CPP) chief Sonia Gandhi, Rahul and Wayanad MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra in New Delhi on Wednesday evening.

He will stay in Delhi on Thursday as well and return to Bengaluru on Friday.

Scores of ministerial aspirants, including K Shadakshari, are camping in Delhi lobbying to be part of the Shivakumar cabinet.

As Ballari Rural MLA B Nagendra, an ST Nayaka leader, is unlikely to be made a minister for his alleged role in the ST Corporation scam, his close associate and Ballari City MLA Bharat Reddy has emerged as a frontrunner, sources added.

Meanwhile, senior leaders, including MLC Saleem Ahmed and MLAs Ashok Pattan, Narendra Swamy and AR Krishnamurthy, are planning to visit Delhi.

There was a plan to offer the Assembly Speaker post to either HK Patil or Dinesh Gundu Rao, a party insider said.

Former higher education minister Dr MC Sudhakar is likely to retain the same portfolio, if he makes the cut.

Meanwhile, several first-time MLAs, including Chikkaballapur MLA Pradeep Eshwar, Virajpet MLA AS Ponnanna, Mudigere MLA Nayana Motamma, and Nanjangud MLA Darshan Dhruvanarayana, want at least two debutants to be made ministers.

"CM Shivakumar, former CM Siddaramaiah and AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge will have their say in finalising the second list of ministers. The names would be known by June 21," sources added.

'NO DISCUSSION AT ALL'

On murmurs in political corridors about cabinet expansion, CM DK Shivakumar firmly dismissed it, saying, "No discussion at all." "Today, I came to pay my respects to my leader. I went to the Youth Congress office. I went to the NSUI office. I went to Indira Bhawan. I went to the Mahila Congress office. They all are a part of our foundation; they are the four pillars of our party. I met my leader Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, and Priyanka Gandhi and expressed my gratitude," he said.

Meanwhile, Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, accompanied by Shivajinagar MLA Rizwan Arshad and Hanagal MLA Srinivas Mane, landed in Delhi. He insisted that the BDA and BMRDA be incorporated into his ministry. The trio reportedly met AICC General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal and had plans to meet Rahul.

Deputy Chief Minister Dr G Parameshwara is also in Delhi reportedly lobbying in favour of some MLAs, sources added.

CM hints at streamlining Gruha Lakshmi scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday said the state government would weed out illegal beneficiaries from the Gruha Lakshmi guarantee scheme.

Speaking to reporters in New Delhi, the CM said that they are rechecking the system to ensure that benefits go to genuine beneficiaries and the right accounts. He, however, said the government has no intention to cut anyone's benefits arbitrarily.

On the Gruha Jyothi guarantee, the Chief Minister pointed out that some individuals have up to six meters registered in their names and are using residential connections for commercial ventures such as shops set up on the lower floors of their homes. He said commercial spaces should take separate connections. He specified that if someone is a tenant, they can provide an affidavit to claim the scheme.

He said that he would meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday. When asked about participating in the NITI Aayog meeting scheduled to be held on Thursday at which the PM is also taking part, Shivakumar said: "We are participating. On the day when I assumed office, the PM had said on 'X' that he will cooperate with everyone. Let's see, we will work together. I'll present my case there in the larger interest of the state... I know what Karnataka needs, what we have to present."

He emphasised Bengaluru city's importance on a global scale. "The world is looking at India through Bengaluru. After Delhi and Mumbai, Bengaluru is a major hub where people from all sections of society arrive, necessitating further infrastructure development across all sectors, including agriculture," he said.

POLITICAL THEATRE

Appaji Nadagouda not as lucky as CM Shivakumar

BENGALURU: Karnataka Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who entered the Legislative Assembly in 1989 for the first time, became the minister for prisons and home guards in the then S Bangarappa regime. In 2026, he became the Chief Minister. But his colleague, Appaji CS Nadagouda, who was the labour minister then, is not so lucky, as the cabinet berth eluded him in 2026. In 1994, Shivakumar was denied the Congress ticket to contest from the erstwhile Sathanur seat. But he contested as an Independent and won. But Nadagouda lost the polls mostly because of the anti-Congress wave over the demolition of Babri masjid in Ayodhya. He, however, was made the special representative of the state in Delhi during the 2013-28 Siddaramaiah regime. Nadagouda's name also made the rounds as the next Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) chief after Shivakumar resigned from the post. "I have been in Congress since 1973, serving in the zilla panchayat and then becoming an MLA for the first time in 1989. I have worked across the state as the vice-convener of the kisan cell... This is my background. That is why I am emphasising that I must be part of the cabinet, and I am trying to convey this to all our high command leaders," Nadag-ouda, a Veerashaiva-Lingayat, said, adding that he remained quiet till now because of party loyalty. Nadagouda is currently chairman of the Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Limited.

I endorse Priyank's statement on RSS, says KPCC chief Hariprasad

BENGALURU: Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) President BK Hariprasad on Wednesday backed Home Minister Priyank Kharge's remarks seeking registration of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), saying he fully endorsed the minister's stand. Hariprasad said any organisation that claims to be patriotic must be registered. The RSS describes itself as a cultural organisation and therefore must follow the law, he said. "If it is not registered, it is for the Home Minister to decide on the appropriate course of action," Hariprasad said. His remarks come amid a political row triggered by Kharge's social media post following the registration of a case against a man from Udupi for allegedly using abusive language against him online. It can be noted recently that Kharge had posted on 'X', where he was responding to the criticism and threats directed at him. Kharge had indirectly referred to the RSS as a "body of individuals" and asked BJP leaders to convey his message to the organisation to keep its registration documents ready.

Congress founded by foreigners, RSS by Indians, says Bommai

GADAG: Congress was founded by foreigners, while Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) by locals. There is no question or need for recognition of RSS, said MP Basavaraj Bommai. "There are many registered and unregistered organisations in the country. RSS has a long history and is the largest such organisation in the world. It has been doing tremendous public service. That is the reason people target the organisation. Our political principles and values have evolved under its guidance," he said. After performing a special puja at the Veeranarayana temple in Gadag, Bommai said, "The puja is to mark the occasion of Narendra Modi creating a historic milestone of being Prime Minister for 4,399 consecutive days. We are praying because the world is going through difficult times as there is a global crisis. Only Modi has the strength to lead India by confronting this crisis. He has proved this over the last three to four months. He is needed to make India a self-reliant and developed country by 2047." Former minister CC Patil, MLC SV Sankanur, Bharat Bommai, Raju Kurudagi, Lingaraj Patil, Anil Abbigeri and others were present.

POLITICAL VENDETTA, SAYS SHIVAKUMAR

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday alleged that the rejection of Congress leader Meenakshi Natarajan's nomination papers was part of a political vendetta by BJP. "This is purely a political vendetta. Earlier also, they (BJP) planned even when our (Congress) numbers were more and had said that they are going to win all the seats. How it could be happen? This is unfair what has been done in Madhya Pradesh. It is a shame on democracy," he told reporters in Delhi. He felt that if there were mistakes in the nomination papers, an opportunity should have been given to correct it.

SIDDARAMAIAH CALLS MOVE ILLEGAL

Former Chief Minister and Congress Working Committee (CWC) member Siddaramaiah on Wednesday sharply criticised the Centre, accusing it of undermining democracy through the alleged "illegal rejection of Congress candidate Meenakshi Natarajan's nomination for the Rajya Sabha election from Madhya Pradesh". "The rejection of Ms Natarajan's nomination is not a routine scrutiny decision. It is a blatant illegality and a clear political conspiracy," he said. He stated there is no criminal case against Meenkashi, as a private complaint does not constitute a criminal case until a court takes cognisance.

BKH flays rejection of Meenakshi's papers, says BJP 'stealing RS chair'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) President BK Hariprasad on Wednesday hit out at the BJP after the nomination papers of Congress Rajya Sabha candidate from Madhya Pradesh Meenkashi Natarajan's nomination papers were rejected by the returning officer. Addressing the media for the first time after taking charge as state Congress chief, Hariprasad said that the BJP, which "stole votes all these years, has now stolen the Rajya Sabha chair."

Calling the episode a "conspiracy", Hariprasad held Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah responsible.

He alleged that the Election Commission of India and returning officers are hand in gloves with the BJP. He said such developments threaten democracy and violate constitutional norms. "They want to demolish democracy. They are working beyond Constitution. We condemn it strongly,'' the Congress leader said.

Further, Hariprasad said this is not the first time that such things were happening. "We have seen similar attempts in Haryana, Jharkhand and other states. Earlier they stole votes, now they are stealing chairs. In the recent Rajya Sabha polls in Haryana, we had 37 votes. We needed 31 votes. But we got 27 votes after four of our votes were declared invalid. In 2016, we had 14 votes and all 14 votes were declared invalid and a BJP candidate was elected," he rued.

Meanwhile, Hariprasad also took exception to his well-wishers greeting him with shawls and bouquets. "While there are well-off people in the Congress, it remains a party of the poor. Across the country, the Congress has only around Rs 700 crore, whereas the BJP has about Rs 10,000 crore. If you wish to honour me with a shawl or flowers, instead contribute that money to the Congress. That will help strengthen the party's treasury,'' he told his well-wishers.

He said in 2001 he was given the responsibility of conducting the Bengaluru municipal elections. Tickets were given to people from humble backgrounds, including hotel waiters and sanitation workers, they won, he said. He said the next two years to belong to Congress workers. "During these two years, we need to work and defeat BJP and RSS'' he added.

Meanwhile, in his maiden meeting as KPCC chief, Hariprasad interacted with special observers appointed by Congress for the upcoming Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) polls, where he initiated the discussion on strategies to win the five corporations.

Workshop on voter registration highlights data protection

ENS @ Bengaluru

STRONG data protection, cybersecurity, transparency and auditability emerged as recommendations at an international workshop on technology-driven voter registration (TDVR) held in Bengaluru on Wednesday.

The day-long stakeholder validation workshop was organised by the Office of the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), Karnataka, in association with the India International Institute of Democracy and Election Management (IIIDEM), the Election Commission of India (ECI) and the International Institute for Democracy and Electoral Assistance (International IDEA).

The discussions focused on identifying global best practices in voter registration systems and strengthening existing mechanisms.

Explaining the objective of the workshop, Karnataka Chief Electoral Officer V Anbukkumar said it was aimed at understanding voter registration practices across the world rather than recommending any specific model. "The objective was to facilitate global learning, identify good practices, validate the findings and develop internationally relevant standards for accurate, inclusive, secure and trusted voter registration systems," he said.

NONE FROM INDIA BLOC CAN COMPETE WITH MODI: GOWDA

"I went to Delhi for a book release on May 26. If at all I was interested, I could have spoken to Union Home Minister Amit Shah and Modi. But I was not at all interested," he claimed. "For two days I had switched off the TV. How can JDS with 18 MLAs send its leader to RS? I express my gratitude to the media for projecting me as being in the race," Gowda quipped in sarcasm.

He admitted that he and Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu had criticised Modi over the Godhra massacre when the latter was Gujarat CM. But ever since JDS and BJP forged an alliance in 2014, he has not criticised Modi. "It is true that I had once criticised Modi harshly. But over the past many years, I have come to understand him a lot. I have confidence in him. I have wholeheartedly appreciated his good work. I have developed a close personal relationship with him, and that will continue even if I am not a member (of the Rajya Sabha)," he said.

When Kumaraswamy's government crumbled here, I was the one who told him to go with Modi. It is no secret," he said.

"India is a vast country with a 1.45 billion population. Let us be frank, I don't think there is any leader from the INDIA alliance who can compete with Modi," he said.

'Will not sit idly'

Expressing his displeasure over remarks by Congress leaders, he said, "I will not sit idly. I will work beyond my capacity to strengthen the party. I have spoken directly about the issues of the state and the country both inside and outside Parliament."

Gowda said he has been in active politics since 1954-55. "I was just doing contract work then, and along with that, I came into politics, responding to the hardships of the people. Since then, I have been constantly among people. Today, I need not yearn for a seat," he said. Gowda was elected to the Rajya Sabha in 2020 with the support of Congress and this time, there was a lot of speculation that he would be the BJP-JDS alliance candidate. But BJP nominated its leader Dr M Nagaraja.

CM convenes first major dist review meet on June 13

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IN his first significant outreach to the state's district administration since taking charge, Chief Minister DK Shivakumar has called a high-level 'Parisheelana Sabhe'— review meeting of all deputy commissioners and CEOs of ZPs— at Vidhana Soudha on June 13.

The meeting is expected to focus on monsoon preparedness across Karnataka, review the progress of ongoing development works, assess the implementation of flagship government schemes, and ensure better coordination between revenue and panchayat wings at the district level.

Government officials said the CM is likely to issue clear, actionable directives on expediting infrastructure projects, strengthening rural development programmes, and ensuring effective utilisation of funds at the grassroots level. The participation of DCs, ZP CEOs and the police highlights the emphasis on integrated and seamless governance.

Political analysts see the meeting as a strong indicator of the high-speed governance style that Shivakumar intends to adopt.

"CM DKS is a man in a tearing hurry," noted analyst BS Murthy. "He has initiated significant administrative changes in the past week, including appointing IPS officer Chandragupta as Intelligence Chief, Manish Moudgil as Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister (Programme and Project Implementation), and repositioning the GBA Special Commissioner for Administration, Revenue and IT," he added.

Murthy added that the timing of the district review meeting is strategic, especially with Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) elections due in August. "The CM is keen to make a visible impact on Bengaluru's infrastructure and governance deliverables quickly," he said.

"The meeting with all DCs and ZP CEOs is intended to lay down new SOPs and give firm directions on the expected speed of implementation of key schemes. He is on a mission to build his own set of trusted deputies who will deliver results,'' Murthy observed.

The Star Air flight service between Kalaburagi and Bengaluru resumed on Wednesday, with financial assistance from the Kalyana Karnataka Regional Development Board. The board's chairman Dr Ajay Singh said that the service would support tourism, economic activity, and investment in the region

WITH the four-day, nation-wide pulse polio programme set to be launched on June 28, Kavitha Rajaram, additional commissioner (development), Bengaluru West City Corporation (BWCC), on Wednesday directed civic officials to ensure 100% coverage.

At a preparatory meeting here, she told the officials to raise awareness among people on the programme.

All children in the corporation limits should be covered under the programme. The focus should be on slums and construction sites, she said.

She asked the officials to rope in volunteers, NGOs and students from medical and nursing colleges for the successful conduct of the programme.

Awareness campaigns should be organised in places such as Metro, railway, and bus stations. Assistance from women and child development and other departments should be taken for the awareness campaigns, she said. Health officer Manoranjan Hegde and representatives from various organisations were present.

WILL TACKLE SHORTAGE OF DOCS, STAFF: KHADER

Health Minister UT Khader with district health officers at Arogya Soudha in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

TO beat the shortage of medical staff in Karnataka, the state government has decided to conduct walk-in interviews and expedite recruitment. In his first comprehensive review of the Health Department after assuming office, Health Minister UT Khader on Wednesday held a meeting lasting nearly five hours with senior officials, including District Health Officers (DHOs) and Chief Health Officers (CHOs), and announced a series of measures to address staff shortages and strengthen healthcare services across Karnataka.

Khader said detailed discussions were held on the implementation of health schemes, availability of medicines, staffing requirements and challenges faced by the department. He said while Karnataka's healthcare system has achieved significant progress, strengthening healthcare delivery at the grassroots level remains a priority. The minister said Karnataka is facing a shortage of 1,290 MBBS doctors, 924 specialists and 892 nurses. To bridge the gap, the government has decided to conduct walk-in interviews and expedite recruitment. Applications can be submitted through the respective District Health Officers.

Khader said MBBS doctors with PG recruited under the programme would receive a monthly salary of Rs 1.1 lakh. He also announced incentives and postgraduate opportunities for doctors serving in government healthcare institutions. Contract employees who have performed well will be considered for permanent appointments. Pointing out that urban areas have relatively adequate medical personnel while rural and hilly regions continue to face shortages, the minister said the government plans to re-engage retired doctors up to the age of 70 on a contract basis. The government will recruit 400 nurses, 400 pharmacists and 400 laboratory technicians to strengthen healthcare facilities across the state.

The department is also preparing an action plan to tackle monsoon seasonal diseases. Local health officials and panchayat authorities have been instructed to intensify fogging operations and preventive measures in vulnerable areas. The minister also reviewed preparedness for snakebite and monkey fever cases. Khader said hospitals have been instructed to maintain adequate snakebite medicine stocks, while private hospitals should provide free treatment. Karnataka has reported around 16,000 snakebite cases. He said medicines received at government warehouses will undergo additional quality checks. Tenders for essential drugs have been issued, and alternative procurement options are being explored. He said he would raise concerns over rising medicine prices with the Union Health Minister.

Gen Z drives pilgrimage travel boom, Bl'uru-Tirupati route sees surge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

YOUNG travellers are increasingly shaping Karnataka's spiritual tourism landscape, with Gen Z passengers emerging as the largest group undertaking pilgrimage journeys, according to a report. The FY26 data from redBus shows that travellers aged 18 to 30 account for 56 per cent of all spiritual travel bookings from Karnataka, exceeding the national average of 53 per cent. The trend indicates a growing interest among younger generations in pilgrimage travel, traditionally associated with older age groups and family-led journeys.

Among the most popular routes, the Bengaluru-Tirupati corridor recorded lakhs of Gen Z travellers during the year, making it one of the busiest spiritual travel routes in the country. Other major pilgrimage corridors witnessing strong demand include Hyderabad-Tirupati, Rishikesh-Delhi, Pune-Nanded, Chennai-Thanjavur and Indore-Ujjain.

The data also reveals a changin g travel pattern among younger pilgrims. Nearly 74 per cent of spiritual bus bookings in Karnataka were made within 48 hours of departure, highlighting a strong preference for spontaneous and last-minute travel. Nationally, bookings made within four hours of departure have risen from 16 per cent in 2022 to 23 per cent in 2026, reflecting the growing influence of mobile-first booking platforms and digital convenience.

Men continue to dominate pilgrimage travel in Karnataka, accounting for 65 per cent of bookings, while women make up 35 per cent. However, the increasing participation of women points to a gradual shift in travel demographics.

The study also suggests that spiritual tourism contributes nearly 60 per cent of India's domestic tourism activity, underlining the sector's significance.

UPHOLDING the order passed by the Commissioner for Persons with Disabilities to pay Rs 10 lakh compensation to a teacher, who was injured while trying to save a student who had climbed out of a window on the first floor and was threatening to jump on his scores, the Karnataka High Court issued a "standard operating procedure for universal accessibility" for persons with disabilities in all public buildings across the state.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj ordered that the payment be made within three months, while dismissing the petition filed by PSBB Learning Leadership Academy, which challenged the June 12, 2020 order of the Commissioner for Persons with Disabilities.

The court directed the school to provide the injured teacher a formal written offer of reinstatement in his job with the specific reasonable accommodations set out in her affidavit dated June 6, 2025. They include a ground-floor wheelchair-accessible classroom, a disabled-friendly washroom, a transport allowance of Rs 15,000 per month, 15-minute breaks after every two periods of classes, option to teach online on days of physical inability to attend classes and first-aid facility.

The court said that if the injured teacher accepts the offer of reinstatement within 30 days, the school shall ensure her reinstatement with seniority counted from her original date of appointment -- July 8, 2008, and with salary and emoluments applicable to a teacher of her grade and seniority. However, no back wages shall be payable for the period of absence to the date of reinstatement, given the equities of the situation, the court clarified.

State earns ₹423 cr from power sale in two months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MINISTER for Energy and Tourism KJ George on Wednesday said the Power Company of Karnataka Limited (PCKL) earned Rs 423 crore from April till June 8 by selling electricity to the national grid at a rate of Rs 9.08 paise per unit.

"We were able to sell power worth Rs 423 crore from April and successfully managed the summer using energy optimisation. We purchased power at low-cost during the daytime and in the evening while generating excess power from hydro, thermal and other sources, which we sold to the national grid. This is a great step towards the optimisation of power and reflects Karnataka's strategic focus on efficient power generation, grid management and energy market participation," George said after a meeting with energy department officials to take stock of the current situation and the monsoon preparedness. He said this measure showcased the state's growing leadership in the energy sector.

A senior PCKL official said, "We purchase power when the cost is less and sell when the demand is high. The average purchase cost during the aforesaid period was Rs 6.54 and the price at which we sold power was between Rs 9 and Rs 10 per unit. The power purchased was distributed during non-peak hours and the power generated from hydel and solar was sold during evening hours when the demand is high. The government has been selling power since the past three years. So the profit figures fluctuate. However, in these two-and-half months, a significant amount was earned."

Detailing the energy demand and consumption during the past three fiscal years, George said Karnataka recorded a demand of 17,220 MW and consumption of 94,982 MW was recorded during 2023–24. The state saw a 24% growth due to drought conditions and increased power requirements.

In 2024–25, peak demand rose to 18,395 MW while electricity consumption was 92,699MW. The consumption registered a 2% decline compared to the previous year owing to favourable monsoon conditions and reduced power demand. During 2025–26, Karnataka recorded its highest-ever peak demand of 18,655 MW with total electricity consumption reaching 96,383 MU reflecting a 4% growth over the previous year, George said.

Until June 8, in the current financial year, the state recorded a peak demand of 18,477MW and electricity consumption of 21,789MW, George said, adding that increased consumption during this period has grown by 22.39% compared to the corresponding period last year, because of the failure of pre-monsoon rains and increased demand. On monsoon preparedness, the energy department officials told the minister that till date, the Escoms have replaced 33,400 poles, 1,441 transformers and 343.56km of power lines. They also said they have 20,012 regular linemen and 4,883 specially hired monsoon gangmen.

Student gifts car to teacher who paid his school fees

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Haveri

IN a touching gesture of gratitude, a former student gifted a brand-new car to his school teacher who had once supported his education during difficult times. The emotional move took place during the farewell programme of the teacher, CS Vastrad, who retired from Kumareshwara High School at Hanagal in Haveri district.

The farewell, organised by the Kumareshwara Vidyavardhaka Trust, was attended by more than 1,000 alumni of the school. Among them was Naveen Hulihalli, a 2007 batch SSLC student, who surprised everybody by gifting him the car as a token of gratitude. Naveen, who is currently working in a reputed MNC company in Bengaluru, had lost his father during childhood and was struggling to cope with poverty. He was on the verge of discontinuing his education when Vastrad stepped in and supported him like a father. Naveen said the teacher not only taught lessons from textbooks but also showed students how to face life's struggles. "He was not just a teacher to me. Until I completed my post-graduation, he stood by me like a father. I wanted to express my gratitude to the person who changed my life. This car is only a small symbol of my lifelong respect and gratitude," he said.

The emotional moment unfolded in the presence of Sri Gurusiddha Rajayogindra Swamiji of Hanagal Kumareshwara Mutt. As the new car was brought near the stage and the keys were handed over, Vastrad was in tears. "I only did my duty as a teacher. Seeing thousands of my students together today and receiving the blessings of the Swamiji is the biggest award for me. Naveen's love and respect have left me speechless," he said.

KIADB to digitise land acquisition, plot allotment processes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) will digitise all stages of its operations, from land acquisition to industrial plot allotment, with the process set to be completed within 100 days, Large and Medium Industries Minister MB Patil said on Wednesday.

Chairing the second departmental progress review meeting at Khanija Bhavan, Patil directed officials to fast-track the digitisation exercise, describing it as a major reform aimed at improving transparency and ease of doing business.

Under the initiative, every industrial plot in Karnataka's 224 industrial areas will be brought under an Integrated Land Management System being developed by the state's e-Governance Department. The platform will maintain 77 data fields for each plot, including allotments, investments, industries operating, employment generated, compensation to landowners, pending litigation and compliance timelines granted to investors.

Patil said the digital platform would enable instant access to records for investors and government agencies, eliminating dependence on physical files and reducing the role of intermediaries. He noted that poor record management in the past had resulted in a few cases of compensation being paid twice for the same parcel of land.

As part of the exercise, KIADB will scan and digitise thousands of records relating to plots in both existing and newly developed industrial areas. Officials have been directed to complete scanning of allotment records in older industrial estates within a month. The digitised database will subsequently be integrated with the Rural Development Department's e-Swathu platform, facilitating services such as e-Khata issuance and streamlining land-related transactions.

FISHERS MAKE BIGGER CATCH THIS YEAR, BUT WEST ASIA CRISIS MARS THEIR JOY

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Karwar

FISHERMEN in Uttara Kannada have been able to make a big catch compared to previous years where they netted close to 1.2 lakh tons of fish. They said their earnings, however, witnessed a slump due to several reasons, including increase in diesel price and the West Asia crisis.

This year brought in a glee on the faces of fishermen as they were able to net huge catches with the total fish production in 2025 reaching 119313.14 tons which is quite more compared to the previous year.

As this year's fishing season came to an end, they said the catch was good because of favourable conditions. "The wind was good and there was no extreme weather. There were restrictions in deep-water fishing and the fishermen from the neighbouring states were kept at bay. This led to a good catch," said Vinayak Harikanthra, a fisherman at Baithkol near Karwar.

The fishermen, however, are not happy as their expenditure increased. "The diesel and LPG prices increased, and the export was affected by the West Asia crisis," said Harikanthra.

The district has 14,076 registered fishing boats, of which 1,140 are mechanised or Persian, 4,927 are motorised and 8,009 are traditional boats. According to the fishermen, the Persian boats require thousands of litres of diesel for operation. They also need LPG and food grains for the crew." The more we fish, the more it burns the fuel. In addition to it, the payment to the crew and the maintenance of the boat and fishing net need to be taken care of. The cost of fishing increased this year because of these reasons," said Jagadish Banalikar, a fisherman. The district has 16,537 families fully dependent on fishing and another 29,386 people who are partly dependent on the trade.

Meanwhile, fisheries department officials attributed the decrease in fish prices to the increase in fish production everywhere. "All the catch is taken to either Malpe or Kerala. The price depends on the amount of the catch here. The increased catch at these places caused a crash in prices, said Prateek Shetty, the deputy director of the fisheries department.

Nomination row: Cong checks sieve to pinpoint leak

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

A day after the nomination papers of AICC Telangana in-charge Meenakshi Natarajan for the Rajya Sabha were rejected by the Returning Officer in Madhya Pradesh on the ground that a private complaint had been filed against her in a Telangana court, the state Congress was abuzz with speculation over how details of the 2025 complaint reached the BJP.

While the TPCC maintained radio silence in public, the mood within the party was far more tense, with leaders and cadres alike trying to figure out how details of the complaint had reached the Returning Officer.

A social media post by BJP national general secretary BL Santhosh during the course of the day added fuel to the speculation that had already gripped the Telangana Congress. Without naming anyone, the BJP leader suggested that the information had originated from within the Congress itself. “The whole @INCIndia brigade & its bagpipers in media who are shouting from roof tops cannot answer one single question who from its ranks brought the Telangana case to public domain .? Better to plug that hole to arrest future embarrassments,” he posted on X.

Privately, many Congress leaders wondered whether the BJP was simply trying to throw the proverbial cat among the pigeons and deepen existing fault lines within the ruling party. Others, however, brushed aside that possibility and focused on a more immediate question: how did information relating to the private complaint reach the BJP? Was there a leak? And if so, was it someone in the Telangana Congress who had an axe to grind with Meenakshi? The question gained traction because the development comes at a time when the party is already grappling with internal differences over organisational appointments, nominations and the distribution of key positions. It also comes against the backdrop of an expected mid-term reset in both the government and the party organisation.

According to party sources, discussions are underway on a series of organisational appointments and possible changes in the Cabinet. Several leaders are said to be in contention for key positions, especially party working president posts, while others are lobbying for ministerial berths or organisational responsibilities. The prospect of a broader reshuffle has triggered intense activity both in Hyderabad and New Delhi, with aspirants and their supporters actively pressing their claims before the party leadership.

BHARATHIRAJA, MASTER OF RURAL REALISM, DIES AT 83

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

TAMIL Nadu on Wednesday bid farewell to legendary filmmaker Bharathiraja, whose groundbreaking work transformed the visual language of Tamil cinema by moving it from indoor studios to the state's hinterland. He was 83 and passed away at his Chennai residence following age-related ailments.

Widely hailed as Iyakkunar Imayam (The Everest among directors), Bharathiraja redefined Tamil cinema with his debut film ‘16 Vayathinile’ (1977). In a career spanning five decades, he directed over 40 films and launched the careers of several actors and filmmakers. The Padma Shri-awardee was also a six-time National Award winner.

Governor RV Arlekar and CM C Joseph Vijay paid rich tributes and hailed his role in bringing the culture and realities of rural Tamil Nadu to the screen. DMK chief MK Stalin and top stars, including Rajinikanth and Kamal Haasan, visited his house to pay their respects. Some of his noted workers were ‘16 Vayathinile’, ‘Kizhakke Pogum Rail’, ‘Alaigal Oivathillai’, ‘Mann Vasanai’, ‘Mudhal Mariyathai’, and ‘Karuthamma’.

Bharathiraja is survived by his wife, Chandraleela, and daughter, Janani. His last rites would be held with full state honours in Theni.

CM Vijay, in a statement said, “I was deeply saddened and grieved to learn of the passing of Tamil film director Bharathiraja.” “A director who rose from a rural background and infused his films with vibrant life and realism, Mr Bharathiraja left a distinct mark on Tamil cinema with numerous successful films,” he said.

TAKE CUSTODY OF KERALA'S TALLEST JUMBO RAMAN: SC TO KERALA

NEW DELHI: In a significant judgment, the Supreme Court has directed the Kerala government to take the custody of the elephant Raman-- described as the tallest in the state at 10.53 ft -- and asked it to house it in an appropriate rehabilitation centre, after observing that the well-being of voiceless animals is of paramount importance. “It is truly unfortunate that the elephant in question, i.e., Raman, who also happens to be the tallest elephant in Kerala, has been subjected to commercial exploitation despite an order restraining such exploitation, that too on the strength of an undertaking made before this court. We would be failing in our duty towards the voiceless if we turn a blind eye towards such defiance. We cannot be a mute spectator, more so in matters about voiceless animals, whose well-being is also of paramount importance,” said a two-judge bench of Justices Dipankar Datta and Satish Chandra Sharma. The court made these serious observations after noting that Raman has been subjected to commercial exploitation and used in ceremonial processions and rituals. ENS

15-yr-old boy falls from 3rd floor of school in Bidar, dies

BIDAR: A 15-year-old student died after falling from the third floor of a private school here on Wednesday. The deceased, Sameer (15), hailed from Shantinagar in Bidar and was a Class X student at Janseva Private School in LIC Colony. Preliminary reports stated that Sameer was rushed to a hospital after the fall, but succumbed to his injuries. His family members alleged that he was constantly being harassed by certain school staff members, and he had informed his parents about it many times. They also alleged that the school authorities took the body for postmortem without informing them or obtaining their consent. At BRIMS Hospital where the student's body was kept, emotional scenes were witnessed as grieving family members demanded strict action against the school management and those responsible for the alleged harassment. The family demanded a thorough inquiry into the circumstances leading to the student's death. The New Town Police Station police registered a case and have started the investigation. ENS

ELECTION OVERTURNED AFTER A DECADE MAKES MOCKERY OF PEOPLE'S WILL

WHEN Tamil Nadu went to the polls in 2016, the AIADMK was re-elected and the voters of Radhapuram constituency got a new MLA in the party's I S Inbadurai. Ten years later, the Madras High Court declared that Inbadurai had not won the election after all—instead, DMK's M Appavu was declared victor by 103 votes. Appavu had moved the court after Inbadurai was declared elected at the time by 49 votes. The verdict finally came after Inbadurai had served a full five-year-term as MLA, and after two more Assembly elections. The court noted this with dismay and, in an unusual gesture, censured the Supreme Court.

The crux of the matter was simple—it was the rejection of postal ballots that had been attested by headmasters who were not deemed gazetted officers. In 2019, the HC ruled that headmasters could indeed attest postal votes and ordered a recount. However, Inbadurai challenged the order in the SC, which stayed the results. Finally, this year, the SC decided that with the MLA's term of office having expired, "no useful purpose is being served in adjudicating upon the said question" and allowed the HC to pass an appropriate order.

The HC rightly stated, "A grave mockery of justice, under the guise of dispensing justice, has been committed to the people of India—particularly the voters [of Radhapuram] who were forced to bear a person as their Assembly representative though he is not duly elected." It pointed out that the Representation of the People Act, 1951 says election petitions must be decided within six months. It also pointed to the SC's concurring views on the matter in Mohd Akbar vs Ashok Sahu (2015) before warning that if "courts continue to ignore their own observations made in the case (cited supra), I fear that this country may also go in the way of other autocratic countries which gained independence around 75 years ago, along with us".

This fear is warranted. The judiciary is the final port of call for citizens buffeted by the legislative and executive branches. The subversion of the people's electoral will purely by judicial procrastination is unconscionable. It would hardly be a cliché to say that justice delayed was, effectively, justice denied in this case. The loser this time is democracy at large.

FOOTBALL MAY WIN THOUGH CUP NOT BRIMMING FOR ALL

IF the beautiful game is exposing some of its more disagreeable aspects on the eve of the world's biggest sporting event, we can squarely lay the blame on its governing body and a co-host. A swell-up of complaints on the eve of the football world cup is not new; what's uncommon this year is its nature and volume. Unplayable pitches, ill-planned logistics, last-minute rule changes, officials and fans denied visas, and harassment of those allowed in—the tournament co-hosted by the US, Mexico and Canada opening today has seen it all even before the first kick-off.

When Fifa President Gianni Infantino promised a few weeks ago that this World Cup would be the "biggest, the most inclusive and the greatest", he may have been on the ball only about the first point. The format has been expanded this year to include 48 teams, double the number that played in 1994, the only other year the US played host. But Fifa placed the tournament beyond the means of a large section of fans by pricing tickets far higher than at earlier editions and keeping only a tiny sliver of each stadium for the cheapest seats. Then, various arms of the US administration made it difficult for even those with invites. In the first cup where a host is at war with a participating nation, the Iran contingent was disallowed the right to overnight stay, breaching Fifa rules and forcing Tijuana in Mexico to be offered as the base city at the last minute. Accusations of profiling flew thick after players from Senegal and Uzbekistan were singled out for extensive body searches. Omar Artan, the first referee from Somalia invited to officiate at a World Cup, was denied entry without a clear reason.

There are several lessons in what not to do for countries like India that are aspiring to host large international events like the Olympics. The foremost is minding the obligation of welcoming players and fans from all participating nations without prejudice. However, Infantino may yet be proven prescient on his final claim. Given the galaxy of stars in play—with final appearances of ageing stars like Messi, Ronaldo and Neymar, and first looks at exciting youngsters like Lamine Yamal, Yan Diomande and Gilberto Mora—this might just be a tournament for the ages. Over to the action on pitch.

QUICK TAKE

DUMBER WITH AI

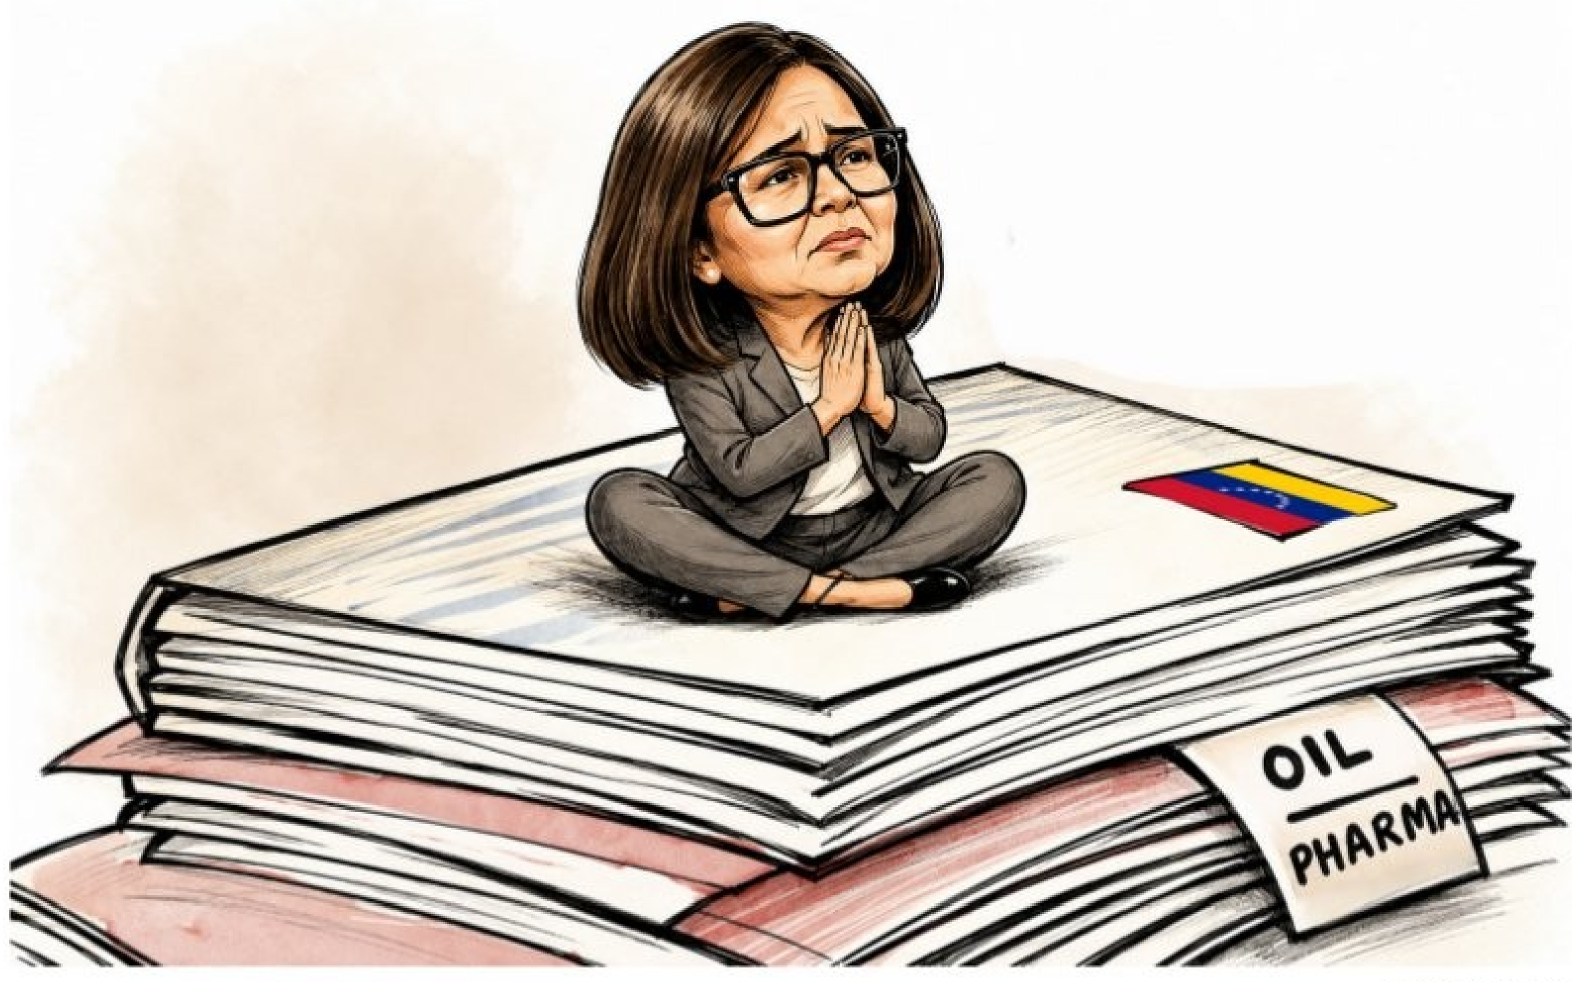
WAVES of research show that wanton use of artificial intelligence by college students is making their outputs dangerously dimmer. A new paper by researchers from Georgetown University comparing 2,200 US college admission essays written before AI tools with those generated by GPT-4 showed a remarkable slide in collective creativity. At about the same time, UC Berkeley's computer science department posted its worst failure rate ever, primarily because of what a professor called a "vast increase in academic dishonesty" through generative AI. As education is one of the most consequential fields where the wrong kind of AI use may make the difference between an able future generation and a hobbled one, Indian institutes should choose their policy on the matter with informed care.

In line with global trends, India can loosen diplomatic protocol to play up soft power links with leaders like Venezuela's acting President—even when the immediate gains are limited

TIME TO LET GO OF COYNESS ABOUT SOFT POWER

K P NAYAR

Strategic analyst



MANDAR PARDIKAR

THE most important reason for the visit of acting Venezuelan President Delcy Rodríguez Gómez to India—from her standpoint—was also the least talked about. Rodríguez came to India for solace and mental peace after the roller-coaster when her boss and her country's elected President, Nicolás Maduro, was abducted and taken to the US.

Rodríguez became de facto President, but only in an 'acting' capacity since Maduro is still legally Venezuela's head of State. Unless events as dramatic as the capture of Maduro by US forces continue to happen in Caracas, Rodríguez has to reconcile herself to being acting President until Maduro's current term in office expires in 2031.

Hispanic-American US Secretary of State and National Security Adviser Marco Rubio, who is the most consequential adviser to US President Donald Trump on Venezuelan affairs, is widely speculated to be still testing Rodríguez in office. Trump and Rubio do not appear to be in any hurry to annul Maduro's 2025 election or organise fresh presidential polls. They don't have to as long as Rodríguez is taking orders from Houston, the energy capital of the US, and from Venezuelan exiles in Miami, who helped elect Rubio to the US Senate from Florida for three consecutive terms.

After her copybook meetings with Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his ministers in New Delhi, Rodríguez travelled to Puttaparthi to pray at the shrine of Sathya Sai Baba and meditate at the facilities in the complex. This is the sixth time Rodríguez has offered prayers in Puttaparthi seeking peace and comfort.

At a specially-convened briefing by the ministry of external affairs, its new Secretary (East), Rudrendra Tandon, was asked directly and indirectly about the acting President's visit to Sathya Sai Baba sanctuaries. Tandon first avoided an answer, saying: "Regarding the programme, we have already informed you about it." MEA Spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal evasively chipped in. "You are already familiar with the programme." When reporters persisted, Tandon added: "On the private part of the programme, I don't think… because these are private. But as coming from a family, it is good that if she does go there, it is very good." [Sic]

It is unfathomable why the MEA is coy about such spiritual excursions by foreign visitors who combine them with official business. Especially when the visitors themselves want to speak about them and be photographed or videographed in places like Prasanthi Nilayam in Puttaparthi, or for that matter, at the Taj Mahal in Agra. Rubio was upset on record that during his recent visit to Agra along with his wife Jeanette Dousdebes, the accompanying American media team was not allowed to travel with him.

It is true that according to convention, such diversions are outside the business of the State, but protocol is changing worldwide. The MEA must adapt to changes to include the country's soft power appeal in promoting leadership chemistry in international engagement. It began promoting the Buddhist tourism circuit at the request of East Asia's Buddhist nations. Why not do the same with places like Puttaparthi, Shirdi and Tirupati?

In 2023, Ukraine's First Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs, Emine Dzhaparova, revealed that she had visited Sathya Sai Baba institutions in Puttaparthi seven times as she made her way there for the eighth time. The MEA was coy about that part of her programme, too. When India indicated that it was not keen on her bilateral visit at all—she was the first minister from Ukraine to travel to New Delhi after the war with Russia began—she used her multiple spiritual connections in India to wangle that trip. That visit certainly helped enhance Dzhaparova's stature back home because India was then seen as more supportive of Russia in its conflict with Ukraine.

India-Venezuela relations are unlikely to gain from the Rodríguez visit although it lasted five days from June 3. These relations are now in a similar rut as the India-Iraq relations were after a series of wars which Iraq got into intermittently from 1980 to 2003, culminating in regime change in Baghdad. Before these wars, Iraq was one of India's closest partners, but the relationship was in tatters through these conflicts. Venezuela now is no different.

Hugo Chávez, founder of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela under its 1999 constitution, was extremely generous to India, like Iraq's Saddam Hussein. He gave India's ONGC Videsh a 40 percent stake in the lucrative San Cristóbal field owned by Venezuela's national petroleum company known by its Spanish acronym, PDVSA. At that time, India had not achieved today's sophistication in its energy sector and the San Cristóbal deal was a boon. Chávez invited Indian biotechnology companies, IT firms, low-cost house builders, pharmaceutical producers, Indian Railway Construction International—the sky was the limit.

His successor Maduro was a bus driver who did not have Chávez's vision. Maduro drove his country to ruin and Venezuela's relations with India couldn't be protected. Both sides pretended that all was well during the 13 years of Maduro's regime.

India now wants to pick up the pieces like it did in Iraq during brief interludes of peace, but never succeeded. Rodríguez is unlikely to deliver anything. India was acutely embarrassed that it was Rubio who announced that Venezuela's acting President would visit India. The announcement was not made in Caracas. For that reason, the MEA went into a lengthy detail regarding Rodríguez's travel on the eve of her arrival instead of the usual sharing of an itinerary brief.

Tandon said that in Venezuela, "we are working with a government that is friendly, that wants a partnership with India. We want to reciprocate that". But friendship and goodwill alone can't produce breakthroughs. Realistically, India's priorities are: recover about $850 million owed to domestic pharmaceutical companies for supplies made to Venezuela; another $500 million owed to ONGC Videsh from its joint venture with PDVSA; increase spot market purchases of Venezuelan oil. There were tense moments during the meetings with Rodríguez when her Indian interlocutors insisted that Venezuela must urgently clear the dues.

If one line summed up the visit, it was Tandon's answer to a question from a journalist. "No, there won't be any big-ticket announcements for this visit." That says it all.

DANGER OF COPS PLAYING COMMANDO

KAJAL BASU

Veteran journalist

BETWEEN 1944 and 1970, the US routinely discarded thousands of tonnes of functioning arms and munitions into the sea. Aside from those considered 'surplus'—a weasel word meaning excess, obsolete or unprofitable—the dumping was undertaken to clear the stockpiles for newer weaponry, and to circumvent strict decommissioning protocols.

During Operation CHASE—acronym for cut holes and sink 'em—in 1964-70, the US scuttled entire decommissioned ships loaded with chemical and newly 'obsolete' weapons in the deep ocean. The ironically named Operation Davy Jones' Locker in 1946-48 sank ships loaded with munitions in the North Sea. During the Million-Dollar Point operation in 1945 in the South Pacific, the US Army bulldozed vast amounts of wartime equipment—tanks, jeeps, rifles—into the sea off Espiritu Santo (now in Vanuatu).

Way had to be made for flashy new weaponry from the arms factories that continued to boom, war or no war. The public saw through this uncommon profligacy and forced the US Congress to prohibit weapons jettisoning through the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act—also known as the Ocean Dumping Act—of 1972.

But what about the unstoppable supply line of surplus arms and munitions after 1972? Much of it began filtering down to the police after the start of Richard Nixon's war on drugs in 1971, and increased exponentially with Ronald Reagan's escalation of that 'war' in 1982. That was when the US Congress first authorised the then department of defense to transfer surplus equipment—in any shape or form, handheld or driven—to law enforcement agencies. By 1997, the '1033 Program' under the National Defense Authorization Act was actively pushing the latest armaments to the police—including in school districts—after marking them, new as they were, as military surplus. The US police are today, in general, considered heavily armed enough to fight wars abroad.

But since the US already has a globalised military, much of this police militarisation is turned against the citizenry, most often during civil rights protests and demonstrations that turn scofflaw—precisely because they are being suppressed. Military-style SWAT teams are today revered in everyday gamer folklore and TV programmes, and 'killology' is a neologism that is foundational in police training. The conduit from the military to law enforcement agencies is straightforward, although not kink-free: a portion of the deliveries drop off the backs of trucks, so to speak, and find their way to the very criminals in the drug trade whom the police were originally armed to combat.

Where policial behaviour is easy to track in America—because the media reports it—far less so is the parallel militaristic arming of police forces in the rest of the democratic world.

AP

The US and several other countries have been passing down heavy armaments to their police forces. Such militarisation has consequences for the citizens they are then aimed at. Swelling budgets and equipment upgrades also indicate a worrying mindset change

As Terrance Long, chair of The Hague-based International Dialogue on Underwater Munitions, said in 2016 about chemical weapons dumped on the seabed, "It's a global problem. It's not regional, and it's not isolated."

Aside from the US, the countries that have notably militarised police are also those that are often pinned by human rights organisations for infractions: Brazil, Colombia, France, Belgium, Israel, Germany, Indonesia, Burundi, Türkiye, Italy, the UK and Mexico, and those like India, Myanmar, Somalia, Sudan, fighting protracted wars on insurgencies.

Israel has its MAGAV or Border Police. The UK annually holds the 'security and policing' trade show, which the Campaign Against the Arms Trade described as "a secretive annual event organised by the Home Office and the arms industry trade body". Türkiye has its Special Operation Teams. In South Africa, military rankings for the police were reintroduced in 2010, and the South African Police Service is trained by the over-armed French Police Nationale in strong-arming protests.

In India, the Union government has increasingly been heavily relying on the Central Armed Police Forces (CAPFs) for regular policing such as during the recent West Bengal election. The size and budget of these forces have grown enormously, aligning federative security with centripetal militarisation. According to the government, in 2024, the CAPFs numbered more than 10.5 lakh. Its budget increase rates have been much higher than the overall military's: from 12 percent of the defence budget in 1999-2000 to nearly 18 percent in 2016-17 and 22 percent in 2026-27.

State police forces and the CAPFs are primarily supplied through the ordnance factories operating under the defence ministry and bodies like Advanced Weapons and Equipment India Limited. The Modernisation of State Police Forces scheme allows state governments to directly buy weapons like the Sig Sauer 716, Glock pistols and Kalashnikov variants using central funds. State units such as the UP Special Task Force also procure military-grade firearms—M72 5.56mm carbine, P-72 Rapid Engagement Combat Rifle, T-72 Battle Rifle and T-12 12-gauge antidrone semiautomatic shotgun—from domestic private manufacturers.

There can be no return to the maladroit, under-equipped 'pandu', 'mama', 'ponda' or 'tholo'—as disparaging as plod, schlümpfe, kiwara, pały elsewhere. But the police seem to have become what citizens feared they might be: in the words of Tara Tabassi and Andrew Dey in 'Police militarisation is global', "a form of social control".

Soon, the difference between cop and commando may fade.

4,399 days, not a personal feat: PM

At a meeting in New Delhi, NDA clears a resolution reaffirming faith in Modi's leadership

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

NARENDRA Modi on Wednesday became India's longest-serving democratically elected prime minister, completing 4,399 days in office and surpassing the record held by India's first prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru. Marking the milestone, PM Modi said a resolution passed by NDA leaders in his honour was "not a personal achievement" but a reflection of the alliance's collective efforts. Emphasising the government's economic record, he said India had registered a growth rate of 7.7% in 2025-26 and 7.8% in the quarter ending March 31 despite a global slowdown.

Leaders of the NDA, meeting in New Delhi, passed a resolution reaffirming their faith in Modi's leadership. The resolution, moved by Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu and seconded by Nagaland CM Neiphiu Rio, received support from several leaders, including Jitan Ram Manjhi, H D Kumaraswamy, Eknath Shinde, Chirag Paswan, Jayant Chaudhary, Vishnu Deo Sai, Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and Anupriya Patel.

On the resolution, Modi said, "I don't view it as a personal achievement, but as a testament to your generosity and our collective efforts. From every perspective, this accomplishment belongs to all of us. Therefore, I dedicate this resolution to all NDA members, including dedicated BJP karyakartas."

'Nation is greater than any political party'

The NDA resolution highlighted achievements in digital governance, including the success of UPI, women-led development, farmer welfare measures, transformation of border villages and efforts to strengthen cooperative federalism. Addressing the meeting, Modi said, "The nation is greater than any political party, and when we work with the spirit of 'Nation First' no decision is too difficult."

NDA leaders described his leadership as embodying delivery, accountability and integrity. The resolution stated that the defining feature of the past 12 years had been the seamless integration of people-centric development, participatory democracy and performance-oriented governance.

Addressing the meeting, Modi said, "The nation is greater than any political party, and when we work with the spirit of 'Nation First' no decision is too difficult." He said the government had taken bold and thoughtful decisions on issues once considered impossible but necessary for the country.

The NDA highlighted what it described as Modi's governance model, characterising it as responsive to citizens, innovative in approach and transformative in impact, reflecting the spirit of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas, Sabka Vishwas, Sabka Prayas'. Reading out the resolution, Naidu said history's most enduring leaders are those who confront the challenges of their era and convert them into opportunities for national resurgence.

The alliance said India had emerged as a preferred global destination for investment, innovation and long-term growth. It cited reforms such as the implementation of the Goods and Services Tax and the repeal of obsolete laws to reduce compliance burdens and improve ease of living and ease of doing business. "As a result, India began to dream again and dream big. The spirit of enterprise found renewed energy," the resolution stated.

Modi said while the global economy continued to face difficulties, India had maintained strong growth. He pointed to measures aimed at supporting the middle class, noting that annual income up to ₹12 lakh had been made tax-free and that the country now benefited from a simple and faceless tax system. He said the government had also expanded opportunities for children from middle-class families.

Taking a swipe at previous governments, Modi said the NDA had ushered in a new era of hope after assuming office in 2014. He criticised the Congress for creating what he described as a "cycle of despair and an inferiority complex". The PM cited the abrogation of Article 370, peace initiatives in Northeast and India's response to terrorism via surgical strikes, and Operation Sindoor.

Cong moves SC against rejection of Natarajan nomination for RS polls

PREETHA NAIR AND SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

CONGRESS on Wednesday moved the Supreme Court challenging the rejection of its Madhya Pradesh candidate Meenakshi Natarajan's nomination for the Rajya Sabha polls. The move comes hours after the party took the battle directly to the Election Commission and said that the order was "egregious" and should be set aside immediately.

Sources said Congress would likely to mention its plea before the SC's vacation bench on Thursday for an urgent hearing. Senior lawyer Abhishek Manu Singhvi, who will represent Congress in the apex court, said the criminal case, cited to reject Natarajan's nomination, does not exist.

A delegation of top Congress leaders, including K C Venugopal, Jairam Ramesh, Singhvi, Vivek Tankha, Randeep Surjewala, Bhupesh Baghel and Deepa Dasmunshi, along with Natarajan, met the EC and demanded that the decision be reversed. "This is a subversion of democracy….We still have full faith in constitutional institutions. That is why we are fighting this battle," Natarajan said after the delegation met the EC officials.

Singhvi said there was no criminal case pending against Natarajan that she was mandated to disclose in her nomination papers. He said the Returning Officer (RO) had exceeded his authority and acted arbitrarily in rejecting her nomination. "The Representation of People's Act has a section 33A which states that you have to disclose only those cases which have a punishment of over two years, but above all, only those cases in which charges have been framed," he said.

Singhvi said Natarajan had only received a notice to come to the court to tell it why cognisance should not be taken, which means the notice was received before any cognisance was taken. "You rejected Natarajan's nomination on non-existence of cognisance which means that there is no criminal case that she could have disclosed," he said. It is a bizarre thing that the returning officer has rejected stating that there is cognizance when there is no cognizance, he said.

Kharge convenes 'urgent meet' of senior leaders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CONGRESS has called a meeting of its general secretaries, in-charges and state unit chiefs on Thursday during which the the party's plans will be deliberated upon. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge will preside over the meeting, party general secretary (organisation) K C Venugopal said.

"An urgent meeting of AICC general secretaries, in-charges and PCC presidents will be held tomorrow, 11 June, 2026 at Indira Bhawan, New Delhi, to discuss current political developments," he said. The meeting comes in the wake of the TMC's political crisis.

The meeting of LoP in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi and Trinamool Congress national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee on Wednesday fuelled speculations of future ties between the parties. The meeting at 10 Janpath took place a day after TMC supremo Mamata Banerjee met former Congress president Sonia Gandhi at her residence and discussed ways to further consolidate the opposition alliance.

Amid shortage, govt okays price hike of cancer drugs

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

Chemotherapy medicines

The Centre's nod to price hike has come at a time when hospitals have reported shortages of two life-saving chemotherapy drugs—Cisplatin and Carboplatin. The two drugs are used in treating cancers like oral, ovary, breast, gallbladder, lung, etc.

THE Centre has approved a price increase of key platinum-based chemotherapy drugs, official sources said Wednesday. The nod to price hike has come at a time when hospitals have reported shortages of two life-saving chemotherapy drugs—Cisplatin and Carboplatin—in the past three weeks. The shortage of the two drugs was felt acutely as West Asia conflict has disrupted the supply of raw materials.

The notification on the price rise may come soon, according to official sources. Both drugs are under price control and are on the National List of Essential Medicines.

The approval followed representations by pharma firms to the Department of Pharmaceuticals on rising production costs due to Iran war.

Experts from AIIMS (Delhi), Tata Memorial Cancer Hospital and other hospitals had flagged the shortage of chemotherapy drugs, which they said could pose a serious threat to cancer patients. The two powerful platinum-based medications are used to treat a variety of solid tumours by damaging cancer cell DNA and halting cell division. According to Rajiv Singhal, General Secretary of All India Organisation of Chemists & Druggists, the government was considering increasing the prices of the two cancer drugs due to limited availability of platinum-based raw materials over the past few months.

Dr Shyam Aggarwal, Chairman, Department of Medical Oncology, Sir Ganga Ram Hospital, Delhi, called the drugs as "backbone of chemotherapy." He said these medicines are used in treating cancers like oral, ovary, breast, gallbladder, lung, among others.

Top US diplomat summoned after tanker strike off Oman

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA has lodged a strong diplomatic protest with the US after a strike on the commercial vessel Settebello off the coast of Oman left three Indian sailors missing, sharply escalating concerns over the growing risks to civilian shipping in the Gulf region.

The External Affairs Ministry on Wednesday summoned US Chargé d'Affaires Jason Meeks and issued a formal demarche, underscoring New Delhi's concern over the attack and its impact on Indians working aboard merchant vessels.

The US acknowledged carrying out military action against a tanker in the Gulf of Oman as part of its enforcement of an ongoing maritime blockade targeting vessels allegedly transporting oil to Iran. US Central Command (CENTCOM) has said that it has repeatedly disabled vessels it claims violated the blockade by attempting to enter Iranian ports.

As many as 24 Indian crew were on board Settebello when it came under attack. Twenty-one have been rescued, while three remain unaccounted for.

"We condemn the attack on the commercial vessel Settebello off the coast of Oman, earlier today," the ministry said in a statement earlier. "Of the 24 Indian crew onboard, 21 Indians have been rescued thus far and 3 Indians are reportedly missing. Our Embassy in Oman is closely monitoring the situation and proactively coordinating with the Omani authorities in the ongoing Search and Rescue operation."

The government said the incident highlights the increasingly dangerous security environment in West Asia, where regional conflict is spilling into critical maritime corridors used by global commerce. "The continuing incidents of attacks on shipping in the region are deeply worrisome and a direct result of the ongoing conflict in the region," the MEA said.

India also renewed its call for an immediate halt to attacks on civilian and commercial vessels, stressing the importance of maintaining freedom of navigation through international waterways. "The targeting of commercial shipping and civilian infrastructure must end."

"We reiterate our call for immediate de-escalation of tensions and the conclusion of ongoing negotiations for a diplomatic solution so that peace and stability can return to the region," the MEA said.

The ministry further emphasised the need for the restoration of "free and unimpeded navigation and commerce through the international waterways in the region in keeping with international law."

Fool-proof steps for NEET re-exam, House panel told

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

SEEKING to address concerns over the NEET-UG re-exam, top officials of the ministries of health and education on Wednesday told a parliamentary panel that fool-proof measures have been taken to ensure that the re-test on June 21 is conducted in a fair manner.

The Parliamentary Committee on Health and Family Welfare had summoned the secretaries in the two ministries over the conduct of the re-exam after the NEET held on May 3 for undergrad medical admissions was cancelled on May 12 over paper leak. The panel also summoned senior officials of the National Testing Agency (NTA) and the National Medical Commission (NMC).

The panel members asked the officials to adopt a fool-proof system for entrance test. They also told the officials that similar exams are held in China, the US and other countries but no paper leaks happen. The members told the officials to learn from the best practices abroad and adopt such systems to ensure that the exam system is fool-proof and called for better coordination between the NMC and NTA.

The members expressed concern over increasing suicide deaths among students, besides referring to rising anxieties among aspirants due to paper leaks and cancellations.

This was the third parliamentary panel before which the top officials of the two ministries, NTA and NMC appeared after the NEET-UG paper row. They had earlier appeared before the parliamentary panels on education and told them that their focus was to hold June 21 re-exam in pen-paper format.

CBI Director Praveen Sood also appeared before a House panel over the progress made in the probe into the paper leak case, and the steps being taken to arrest thge accused.

Navy gets 21 Romeos, still short of sub hunters

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

WITH China stepping up its underwater forays into the Indian Ocean Region (IOR) and Pakistan readying its new Chinese-origin Hangor-class boats equipped with air-independent propulsion (AIP), India has so far taken delivery of 21 of the 24 MH-60R 'Romeo' multi-role helicopters contracted from the US for hunting enemy submarines. The delayed deliveries come amid a continuing huge shortfall in anti-submarine warfare (ASW) and multi-role choppers for the Navy's frontline warships, with the requirement pegged at well over 100.

Sources said that the Navy, in the interim, is also mulling a repeat order of the US-origin Romeos to partially bridge the gap. Of the 21 Romeos delivered, 15 are operational with the Navy. Three are being used for training Indian aircrews in the US, while another three are undergoing India-specific modifications and certification before deployment. The ones already in service, in turn, will be progressively rotated to the US in batches for the same upgrades, sources said.

"The modifications in the pipeline are in no way linked to any technical glitches or operational shortcomings. They include the progressive integration of indigenous electronic warfare suite, secure communication systems and weapons on the platform," a source said.

China's more than 60 submarines prowl IOR

China's navy, the world's largest, has over 60 submarines, including nuclear-powered attack ones capable of extended deployments far from home waters. Chinese boats regularly prowl the Indian Ocean Region, often accompanied by survey and 'research' vessels.

The crunch is not the Navy's alone, with the Indian military's overall helicopter fleet ageing and the requirement over the next decade estimated at more than 1,000 choppers. The Navy has so far raised two Romeo squadrons, INAS 334 commissioned at Kochi in March 2024 and INAS 335 at Goa in December last year.

The ₹15,157-crore deal for the 24 Lockheed Martin-Sikorsky helicopters, inked through the US foreign military sales (FMS) route in February 2020, had stipulated delivery of all of them by last year. But the programme has slipped, with three still pending. The twin-engine Romeos, packed with multi-mode radars, low-frequency dipping sonars, air-dropped sonobuoys and electro-optical turrets, can detect threats both below and above the surface. For the kill, they are armed with Mk-54 lightweight torpedoes and Hellfire missiles.

They are a generational jump over the Navy's ageing fleet of around 20 Sea Kings, the 42Bs for sub-hunting and anti-surface warfare and the 42Cs for troop transport, as well as the Kamov-28s, which also serve in the ASW role. Though both fleets have received upgrades over the years, the choppers are several decades old and increasingly dogged by maintenance and serviceability problems.

But even all 24 Romeos will meet only a fraction of the Navy's long-pending requirement for 123 naval multi-role helicopters (NMRH). The first RFI (Request for Information) for the 123 NMRHs was issued in 2011 to equip warships commissioned from 1997 onwards. It was scrapped and a fresh one floated in 2017 under the strategic partnership model. Nearly a decade later, the programme remains without a contract.

A part of the gap is also expected to be plugged by HAL's deck-based multi-role helicopter, the naval variant of the IMRH project, which is separate from the RFI. But with the chopper still in the design and development stage, the shortfall will persist for years.

DGCA, Scandinavian Airlines spar over entry; ops suspended till June 16

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

IMPROPER documentation resulting in the authorisation for operations being rejected by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) is the reason behind the Scandinavian Airlines (SAS) from Copenhagen to Mumbai returning to its base near Azerbaijan. The airline has now announced the suspension of its operations to India till June 16.

The incident involving SK969, an Airbus A330, on June 2 left authorities in Mumbai in a peculiar situation as they were waiting to welcome the service which was relaunched after 17 years. They were told that the maiden flight wouldn't arrive.

Under the Aircraft Act 1934 and the Aircraft Rules 1937, an operating authorisation from the DGCA is mandatory for any foreign airline. Highly placed sources at DGCA told this newspaper, "The SAS plane was asked to return by ATC of one of the countries in Asia. The reason is that they had unilaterally decided to fly to India without getting the operational authorisation from DGCA, which is compulsory."

On the reasons for the rejection of the authorisation permit, a source said that as per the regulations governing permission for European airlines by India, the airline needs to be at least 50% owned by individuals in the originating country or any of the European member states. "SAS had supporting documents only for partial ownership (26%) by a Danish firm and 10% by a French carrier. The half-way ownership mark could not be proven by them making the documents incomplete."

Another source said, "This was an attempt to arm-twist us into giving the nod. The assumption was when you are stranded in the air with a plane full of passengers, any regulator would give in."

On Wednesday, SAS said, "As part of the process to launch our Copenhagen-Mumbai service, one final formal step remains before we can begin full operations… Ticket sales are paused until 16 June to ensure clarity and predictability for our customers."

India a key player in Asia-Pacific aviation sector

INDIA will play a significant role in the booming aviation sector in the Asia Pacific region, where the air passengers will touch up to 4.1 billion by 2044, said the International Air Transport Association (IATA).

The air passenger traffic figures for 2024 for the region were 1.7 billion and an additional 2.4 billion travellers will be added in next 20 years, IATA said.

CM allocates 35 portfolios, Swapan gets finance, 10 from North Bengal

Three MLAs closely associated with RSS given charge of wings of education department

SUBHENDU MAITI @Kolkata

THE BJP government in West Bengal on Wednesday handed the finance portfolio to journalist-turned-politician Swapan Dasgupta and key industry-related departments to former Trinamool Congress leader Tapas Roy as it allocated portfolios to the 35 ministers inducted in the second phase of cabinet expansion, completing the formation of Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari's 41-member council of ministers.

The allocations also placed three MLAs closely associated with the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) in charge of wings of the education ministry and gave significant representation to north Bengal, with 10 MLAs from the region receiving important responsibilities.

According to the official notification, Dasgupta, the Rashbehari MLA and former Rajya Sabha member, will head Finance. Roy, the Maniktala legislator who joined BJP from TMC in 2024, was assigned Industry, Commerce and Enterprises, Public Enterprises and Industrial Reconstruction, and Non-Conventional and Renewable Energy Sources.

TAPAS ROY

JAGANNATH CHATTERJEE

Will try to bring back the Tatas, says Roy

After taking over charge as industries minister, Tapas Roy held meeting with senior officers to draw a roadmap for industrial rejuvenation in Bengal. Roy said that he would try his best to bring back Tata Group and other industrial giants for investments in state. "My first consideration will be to bring back the Tatas in the state," he said.

The government split the education sector among leaders regarded within BJP as longtime members of the broader RSS ecosystem. Suri MLA and former state BJP general secretary Jagannath Chattopadhyay was given Higher Education and Technical Education and Training and Skill Development, while Phalakata MLA Dipak Barman was entrusted with School Education, Housing, and Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises and Textiles. Koushik Chowdhury was appointed minister of state for School Education and Fire and Emergency Services. The move assumes significance in the backdrop of the school recruitment scam that engulfed the previous TMC government.

The portfolio distribution also underscored the BJP government's focus on north Bengal, a region that has long been one of the party's strongest bases in the state. Siliguri MLA Shankar Ghosh was assigned Tourism and Parliamentary Affairs, while former Union minister Nisith Pramanik retained charge of North Bengal Development and Water Resources Investigation and Development. Kumargram MLA Manoj Kumar Oraon was entrusted with Forest and Environment.

Malati Rava Roy, MLA from Tufanganj, was appointed minister of state with independent charge of Women and Child Development and Social Welfare, Self Help Group and Self Employment, and Programme Monitoring. Anandamay Barman, MLA from Matigara-Naxalbari, was made minister of state in the Finance and Transport departments.

Among other major appointments, Bidhannagar MLA and medical practitioner Dr Sharadwat Mukherjee was entrusted with Health and Family Welfare, while senior BJP leader Dudh Kumar Mondal took charge of Agriculture.

Noapara MLA Arjun Singh was allotted Labour and Transport. Khardaha MLA Kalyan Chakraborty, an academician-turned-politician, received IT and Electronics, Science and Technology, Biotechnology, Food Processing Industries and Horticulture. Murshidabad MLA Gouri Sankar Ghosh was entrusted with Backward Classes Welfare and Mass Education Extension and Library Services. Arup Kumar Das received Irrigation and Waterways, while Ajay Kumar Poddar was assigned Public Health Engineering and Public Works.

HP shops & commercial establishments can stay open round the clock

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

SHOPS and commercial establishments across Himachal Pradesh will now be allowed to operate round the clock following amendments to the state's labour laws. Chairing a review meeting of the labour and employment department on Tuesday evening, Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said that his government has amended the Himachal Pradesh Shops and Commercial Establishments Act, 1969, and the related rules to enable more effective implementation of the law across the state.

"Under the amended provisions, shops and commercial establishments have been permitted to operate round the clock. This will provide greater flexibility to businesses and enable consumers to shop at their convenience," he added. The CM said the government would make the compliance system effective to improve the ease of doing business while strengthening the protection and welfare of workers.

Sukhu directed the department to fully digitise the delivery of all its services, including certificates and licences, so that people do not face inconvenience in obtaining the documents. He asked officials to ensure that benefits of welfare schemes reach all eligible beneficiaries in a timely manner.

Highlighting the government's employment-generation initiatives, Sukhu said that under Rajiv Gandhi Swarojgar Start-up Yojana-2023, the youth are being provided 50% subsidy for purchasing e-taxis. "In the 2026-27 financial year, 500 more youth will be provided 50% subsidy for purchasing e-taxis, for which a provision of ₹50 crore has been made in the budget," he said. The CM added that during the same period, about 500 youth will also be extended a 50% capital subsidy through direct benefit transfer for the purchase of e-rickshaws.

Sukhu also asked officials to notify the new Himachal industrial policy within the next two months to enhance the state's competitiveness with the neighbouring states.

Theatre to set the stage for upcoming elections

In an election year, the BJP-led state government is gearing up for a battle for Lucknow. One of the Yogi government's move is the ambitious theatre outreach programme. The plan is to make the people aware of district-wise historical icons and landmark events through curated plays. 'Ek Janpad, Ek Natak (One District, One Play)' aims at narrating the stories of freedom fighters, cultural figures and historical events to audiences through travelling productions, local theatre groups and even digital streaming platforms. The personalities and events likely to be featured include former PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee, Veer Savarkar, and the 1857 mutiny.

Surha Tal added to list of Ramsar sites in India

The Jai Prakash Narayan Bird Sanctuary (Surha Tal) in the Ballia district, known for its rich avifaunal biodiversity, has been designated as a Ramsar site, or a wetland of international importance, making it the 100th such site in India. The sanctuary got PM Modi's attention as he posted on X that it reflected India's unwavering commitment to protecting natural surroundings and wetlands. "Glad that the Jai Prakash Narayan Bird Sanctuary (Surha Tal) in Ballia, UP, has been designated as India's 100th Ramsar site. This wetland is rich in avifaunal biodiversity, attracting several migratory and resident birds," he said in a post on X.

Regional outfit sharpens strategy, claims 44 seats

Amid speculation of UP assembly elections being held earlier than scheduled, political parties have pulled up their socks. The Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP) is ready to give sleepless nights to big brother BJP as it is preparing to contest 44 seats in 2027. Among the 44, eight are represented by BJP. OP Rajbhar has also finalised candidates for Ghosi, the seat of minister Dara Singh Chauhan, and Madhuban, the seat of energy minister AK Sharma. Subhaspa, as it is known in local lingo, is eyeing Ghazipur, Jaunpur, Varanasi, Chandauli, Bhadohi, Azamgarh, Mau, Ballia, Deoria, Kushinagar, and Maharajganj in Purvanchal.

BIHAR

3 officers held for involvement in tender scam

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

BIHAR police's Special Vigilance Unit (SVU) on Wednesday arrested three officers for their alleged involvement in the tender scam. Another key accused, IAS officer Sanjeev Hans, could not be traced. Sources claimed he was currently out of state.

SVU arrested former joint secretary-level officer Mumukshu Choudhary from the finance department and former chief engineer Tarini Das from the building construction department, and executive engineer Umesh Kumar Singh from the urban development and housing department after questioning them in the case.

Earlier, the Bihar government had suspended 2017-batch IAS officer Yogesh Kumar Sagar and 2014-batch IAS officer Abhilasha Kumari Sharma in connection with a tender scam allegedly masterminded by Rishu Ranjan Sinha, popularly known as Rishu Shree. SVU has arrested Rishu Shree, a government contractor.

Rishu Shree allegedly manipulated state tenders to benefit his firm, "Reliable Infra Services", and extended undue luxuries—such as financing multi-lakh foreign trips to Europe and Australia—for high-ranking IAS officers in exchange for lucrative government contracts.

Varanasi court allows plea against Rahul over remarks on Lord Ram

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

AN MP-MLA court in Varanasi on Wednesday set aside a lower court order dismissing a complaint against Congress leader Rahul Gandhi over his alleged remarks at a US university describing Lord Ram as a mythological figure.

Special Judge Yajuvendra Vikram Singh allowed a plea filed by advocate Harishankar Pandey against Gandhi for his alleged remarks and instructed the CJM court to reconsider the case and pass order according to law. Pandey said, "The case will now be heard in the lower court and the next date will be fixed soon."

In 2025, the Leader of the Opposition, during an interaction at the Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at the Brown university, referred to Lord Ram as a mythological and fictional character" while describing him as a symbol of compassion, forgiveness and righteousness.

In his petition filed in the lower court, Pandey said Gandhi's remarks hurt the religious sentiments of millions of Sanatani Hindus.

He had sought to file a case against the Congress leader under section 196 (prompting enmity between groups), 351 (criminal intimidation), 353 (statement conducing to public mischief) and 356 (defamation) of the BNS. Pandey appealed to the court that Gandhi must be summoned in the matter apart from initiating legal proceedings against him.

The CJM court had dismissed the plea, calling it non-maintainable as Pandey did not secure prior approval of the Centre or other authorities concerned as required under the law. Pandey filed a revision petition against the order in the district judge court on September 26, 2025, which was transferred to the MP-MLA court.

MP-MLA court judge Yajurved Vikram Singh set aside the lower court's decision and held that prior sanction from the Centre was not required at the stage of filing or entertaining the complaint, Pandey said. A notice will now be issued to Gandhi as part of the summoning process.

BJP MLA questions own govt probe into 'ghost demolition'

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@Ahmedabad

SURAT BJP MLA Vinu Mordia has questioned the credibility of the six-member High-Power Investigation Committee constituted by the Surat Municipal Corporation (SMC) to probe the controversial Nasir Nagar demolition, saying the panel is not competent enough to conduct a fair inquiry and calling for an independent high-level investigation with external representatives.

"I do not believe the committee formed by the corporation is competent enough. A high-level independent investigation should be conducted, with outside representatives included and accountability ensured for all," Mordia said, adding a fresh political dimension to the growing controversy. The alleged "ghost demolition" case in Surat has emerged as a major administrative and legal controversy, with allegations of irregularities, misuse of power and procedural violations at the centre of the debate.

The controversy began after nearly 100 houses and commercial structures in Nasir Nagar were demolished on May 28 under police protection. Residents alleged that the demolition was carried out without following due legal procedures and without providing adequate prior notice, triggering protests and public outrage in the area.

As criticism mounted, the Surat Municipal Corporation stated that no official demolition order had been issued by the civic body. The claim raised further questions about who authorised the operation and under what legal provisions it was carried out.

Congress accused the administration of failing to fix responsibility, alleging that despite the seriousness of the controversy, no officer or employee had been held accountable. Amid mounting political pressure, Municipal Commissioner Shalini Agarwal announced a formal investigation. The corporation has since constituted a six-member High-Power Investigation Committee to ascertain the facts behind the demolition and determine whether rules were violated.

The committee is expected to review the role of officials in the Central Zone.

High alert in Gujarat over bomb threats

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Ahmedabad

A wave of bomb threat emails put Gujarat into a high-security alert after unknown senders warned of coordinated blasts at some of the state's most sensitive establishments.

Issued in the name of the "Khalistan National Army", the messages claimed that the CMO would be targeted at 1:11 pm, the Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation headquarters at 3:11 pm, and an RSS office at 5:11 pm, triggering panic across Ahmedabad and Gandhinagar. Security agencies rushed into action, but searches found no suspicious objects at any of the mentioned locations.

The biggest impact was seen at the Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation's Danapith headquarters, where officials wasted no time in evacuating the building. As news of the bomb threat spread, the mayor, deputy mayor, standing committee chairman, ruling party leaders and civic staff members were all moved out of the premises, while security forces sealed and sanitised the civic body premises.

Draft standards out for vehicles that can talk to each other

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

THE Centre on Wednesday released draft standards for vehicle-to-vehicle (v2v) communication system to enhance road safety. It will review comments and suggestions from stakeholders before finalising the standards.

The v2v communication system allows vehicles on the road to exchange real-time information such as speed, location, and braking patterns over short-range radio frequencies.

It is designed to alert drivers to potential hazards, including stationary vehicles, sudden braking by vehicles ahead, and potential collisions.

The draft standard specifies the minimum technical, functional, performance, environmental, and security requirements for the communication device and only covers factory-installed On-Board Units.

The Department of Telecommunications has already allocated 30 GHz radio frequency for the development of the v2v system. According to the draft, the standard applies to vehicles of categories L (motor vehicles with less than four wheels, primarily 2-3 wheelers and light quadricycles), M (motor vehicles with at least four wheels used primarily for the carriage of passengers) and N (motor vehicles with at least four wheels that are used primarily for the carriage of goods).

The v2v communication system was discussed in the Transport Development Council meeting held earlier this year.

Union road transport and highways minister Nitin Gadakri chaired the meeting, following which the government planned the installation of the device as mandatory by the end of this year to prevent collisions and improve safety by providing 360-degree awareness beyond a driver's line of sight.

Gadkari called the initiative "revolutionary" and claimed it could reduce accidents by 80%. The cost of the equipment is ₹5,000 and ₹7,000.

As reported by this newspaper earlier, initially the mandate will apply to new vehicles, with provisions later being made for retrofitting older vehicles.

Mahua liquor policy to fuel tribal eco in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

THE Chhattisgarh government has initiated a programme to develop an industrial model for manufacturing mahua-based heritage liquor. Officials hope that it will boost tribal economy and leverage forest resources that exist aplenty.

The decision received a formal go-ahead during a high-level review meeting chaired by the Chhattisgarh chief secretary. The chief secretary directed officials that mahua-based heritage liquor manufacturing activities be treated on par with agro-processing industrial units under the state's industrial policy.

"Mahua liquor, if prepared by tribal co-operatives and supported by the government for marketing, technology and branding, can change the tribal economy for good, ensuring profits go back to the tribal women who collect mahua," said Shubhranshu Choudhary, convener of the New Peace Process, a citizen group that works for tribal rights.

HERITAGE DRINK

MAHUA IS
- Traditional tribal forest produce
- Key source of seasonal income for tribal households
- Proposed flagship heritage beverage of Chhattisgarh

THE PLAN
- Mahua-based heritage liquor to be developed as an industry
- Units to be treated as agro-processing industrial units
- Production by private entrepreneurs
- State support through marketing, licensing and bank linkages
- Nodal agency: Chhattisgarh State Minor Forest Produce Federation

To ensure effective implementation of the new policy, officials have been directed to study existing models in other states. The state will invite expressions of interest from private entrepreneurs through the Department of Commerce, ensuring no subsidies outside the standard industrial policy are given. Entrepreneurs will be required to declare agreed purchase rates for raw materials.

The government has decided that while private entities will manage production, state will complement them by providing official marketing channels, licensing assistance and bank linkages. Chhattisgarh State Minor Forest Produce (Trading & Development) Cooperative Federation will act as the nodal agency for this initiative. The federation has been tasked with conducting a comprehensive feasibility study for liquor manufacturing units (LMUs). The study will focus on assessing the volume of availability of mahua in the state, determining the minimum raw material required to run a unit viably, analysing the economics of the supply chain and evaluating overall market potential of such an enterprise.

Choudhary said that the British had banned mahua liquor and independent India did not address the issue. "Organisations like Abujhmad Mahua Union Limited can achieve results similar to the Amul cooperative in Gujarat and must be given a chance sincerely," he said. The state is also planning to organise an investors' summit in this regard.

IRAN, US TRADE FIRE; TRUMP WARNS OF MORE STRIKES

Bahrain said it intercepted aerial attacks, Jordan downs missiles as Don acussed Iran of stalling talks for too long

Strikes disrupt water supply for Iranians

TEHRAN: Around 20,000 residents of Sirik have lost access to drinking water after strikes damaged two reservoirs supplying the Bemani and Kouhestak areas, state media reported on Wednesday. Local water officials said temperatures of 45-50 degrees Celsius had made conditions "extremely difficult and critical".

100m barrels of oil moved with US help: Trump

WASHINGTON: Donald Trump said the US military secretly helped more than 100 million barrels of oil and over 200 commercial ships pass through the Strait of Hormuz after Iran largely closed the waterway. In a Truth Social post, Trump said the mission ensured oil reached global markets. Earlier reports on US naval escorts had been denied by Central Command.

TEHRAN

IRAN and the US once again traded fire following the downing of an American helicopter, further straining a ceasefire that took effect in April but has been marked by sporadic flare-ups of violence.

Meanwhile, US President Donald Trump accused Iran of taking too long to negotiate a peace deal and warned it would "have to pay the price". Trump said he will renew attacks on Iran, saying Tehran's peace negotiators "keep playing us for suckers." "We're going to be attacking them — attacking them very hard," Trump told reporters in the Oval Office. "We were really close to a deal, but they keep tapping us along, they keep playing us for suckers." "Iran is all talk and no action," Trump said. "They've taken too long to negotiate a deal that would have been great for them, now they will have to pay the price!!!" Separately, he said he was getting closer to targeting Iran's power plants and bridges. "I may keep going. They had a chance to sign a deal and survive."

Warning to Gulf neighbours

Iran said it attacked American bases in Jordan and Bahrain on Wednesday after US strikes in retaliation for the downing of a helicopter. Bahrain said it intercepted Iranian aerial attacks, while Jordan said it shot down five missiles.

Kuwait said its air defences were engaging hostile aerial targets. Tehran reiterated that neighbours should not allow the US or Israel to use their territory for attacks. Russia and China urged restraint.

IAEA seeks access to stockpile information

The UN nuclear watchdog's board approved a Western-backed resolution demanding that Iran immediately provide information on its uranium stockpile and production facilities and grant inspectors access. Iran has suspended cooperation with the IAEA after US-Israeli strikes on its nuclear sites and dismissed the resolution as a "provocative" move. AFP

Israeli hits in South Lebanon kill 12 as fighting shows no sign of easing

BEIRUT

ISRAELI strikes on southern Lebanon killed at least 12 people on Wednesday, a Lebanese medical source said, as Israel carried out strikes across the south including the coastal city of Sidon. Earlier, Israeli forces seized a municipal councillor and a worker from the border town of Kfarshuba, according to Lebanon's state-run National News Agency, while Israel said it "apprehended" two people who approached its soldiers.

A ceasefire in Lebanon meant to have gone into force in April was never observed, and a new conditional truce announced after Lebanese-Israeli talks in Washington last week was rejected by militant group Hezbollah and both sides have continued to trade fire. The agreement did not mention a halt to Israeli attacks. "The number of martyrs from the Israeli airstrikes in the town of Tayr Dibba is eight, and in Deir Qanun al-Nahr it is four," the source said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The NNA had reported at least four Israeli strikes on Tayr Dibba and two on Deir Qanun al-Nahr. It also reported an Israeli drone strike on a vehicle in Sidon, a city relatively spared from major Israeli attacks and which hosts a large number of displaced people.

An AFP correspondent heard an explosion in the area before seeing a car burning as rescuers and firefighters headed to the scene. The correspondent saw rescuers pull two people from the targeted vehicle. Hezbollah drew Lebanon into the West Asia war on March 2 in support of Iran. Lebanese authorities say Israeli attacks since March have killed nearly 3,700 people and displaced more than one million others.

Neither side has respected a ceasefire first announced in mid-April. Iran insists that Lebanon must be part of any deal to end the wider West Asia war, whose prospects were questioned after Tehran launched attacks on US bases. AFP

Long-range Ukrainian attacks hit Russian military, energy infra

KYIV

A series of long-range Ukrainian attacks hit targets deep inside Russia on Wednesday, part of Kyiv's efforts to raise the costs of the war for the Kremlin by striking energy facilities and military industries.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said his country's forces struck several military and energy infrastructure sites, including a military factory that he said supplied components for Russian drones and missiles. In a post on social media, Zelenskyy said Ukrainian FP-5 Flamingo long-range missiles had hit the facility in Cheboksary, located in the Chuvashiya region more than 900 kilometers from the front line.

Russia's Defense Ministry said that air defenses downed 326 Ukrainian drones overnight. Oleg Nikolayev, the head of Chuvashiya, confirmed the missile attack but didn't give details. The Astra online news outlet reported that the Ukrainian strike hit the VNIIR-Progress plant that produces antennas for drones. Zelenskyy also said Ukrainian forces struck a refinery in Russia's Samara region, where Gov. Vyacheslav Fedorishchev said that several industrial plants were damaged by drone strikes and three people were injured.

Fedorishchev didn't name the facilities that were damaged, but Astra carried images of a large fire at the Samara refinery. Zelenskyy added that Ukraine's Security Service (SBU) had also targeted two oil infrastructure facilities in Russia's Vladimir region, about 700 kilometers from the front line. AP

US blocks Pakistan, China bid to list BLA and Majeed Brigade

UNITED NATIONS

THE US has blocked a joint bid by Pakistan and China at the UN Security Council to designate the Balochistan Liberation Army (BLA) and the Majeed Brigade as a terrorist entity. Islamabad and Beijing had in September last year submitted their joint bid to the Security Council to blacklist the Balochistan Liberation Army (BLA) and the Majeed Brigade under the Council's 1267 Al Qaeda Sanctions Committee.

It is learnt that the US, France and UK - all permanent veto-wielding members of the Security Council - blocked the bid this month. Pakistan's Permanent Representative to the UN Ambassador Asim Iftikhar Ahmed had said that terrorist entities, including ISIL-K, Al-Qaeda, Tehrik-e Taliban Pakistan, East Turkistan Islamic Movement, BLA and the Majeed Brigade operate from Afghan sanctuaries, with more than 60 such terrorist camps serving as hubs for enabling cross-border infiltration and attacks.

"Pakistan and China have jointly submitted to the 1267 Sanctions Committee a request to designate the BLA and Majeed Brigade. We hope the Council will act swiftly on this listing to curb their terrorist activities," Ahmed had said at a UN Security Council meeting.

Pakistan currently sits in the 15-nation Security Council as a non-permanent member for the 2025-26 term, while China is a veto-wielding permanent member of the powerful UN body.

Pakistan was the chair of the 1988 Taliban Sanctions Committee of the UN Security Council for 2025, as well as the vice-chair of the Counter-Terrorism Committee. Previously, China, a permanent, veto-wielding member of the UN Security Council, had put on hold several listing proposals made by India and its partners, like the US, to designate Pakistan-based terrorists and terror entities under the Council's 1267 Al Qaeda Sanctions Committee regime. The US has designated the Balochistan Liberation Army and its alias, the Majeed Brigade, as a Foreign Terrorist Organisation. The State Department added the Majeed Brigade as an alias to BLA's previous Specially Designated Global Terrorist (SDGT) designation.

The action taken by the Department of State "demonstrates the Trump Administration's commitment to countering terrorism. Terrorist designations play a critical role in our fight against this scourge and are an effective way to curtail support for terrorist activities," the State Department had said.

BLA was designated as an SDGT by Washington in 2019 following several terrorist attacks.?Since 2019, BLA has claimed responsibility for additional attacks, including by the Majeed Brigade, the State Department had added. PTI

Belfast on alert as far-right unrest spreads beyond Northern Ireland

BELFAST

BELFAST steeled itself on Wednesday for a second night of violence directed at immigrants in Northern Ireland, unrest that authorities say is being stoked by far-right activists on social media. Several schools closed and businesses shut early after a Sudanese man appeared in court over a brutal knife attack that triggered on Tuesday evening's unrest in the British province's capital.

Police were bolstering their presence after masked rioters torched vehicles and buildings, forcing families to flee their homes, in scenes that UK Prime Minister Keir Starmer branded "shocking and completely unacceptable". The violence, which spread to Scotland, comes as tensions in the UK are already high. There were skirmishes in southern England last week over the police handling of the murder of a white student by a British Sikh man.

Anselme Shima, originally from the Democratic Republic of Congo, and who has lived in Northern Ireland since 2013, called the situation "terrifying". "I have two children at home and this morning I am wondering, 'Can I send them to school?'" the 48-year-old told AFP Wednesday. Calls for more protests circulated on Wednesday.

Vehicles set on fire by protesters burn on Lendrick Street in east Belfast, Northern Ireland after the arrest of a Sudanese man accused of stabbing a man | AP

Northern Ireland police chief Jon Boutcher said the force was looking to add a further 200 officers to the streets, while local transport authorities cancelled bus and train services for Wednesday evening. Boutcher said police had to take a baby as young as two months old and its family to safety during Tuesday's disorder, which he branded "a huge act of self-harm by mindless idiots", many of whom appeared to be young men.

The violence followed widespread condemnation of a stabbing allegedly committed by Hadi Alodid, 30, a refugee originally from Sudan, on a man in his 40s who a court heard lost an eye in the attack. Footage of the Belfast stabbing — which showed several people intervening, one wielding a hurling stick — sparked widespread condemnation. Despite pleas from authorities not to share the video, it went viral on social media. AFP

Sudanese man charged over Belfast knife attack

Belfast: A 30-year-old Sudanese man appeared in court on Wednesday charged with attempted murder over a stabbing that left a man seriously injured and triggered anti-immigrant violence across parts of Northern Ireland. Police said Hadi Alodid was armed with a kitchen knife when officers arrived. Rioters set homes and vehicles ablaze and attacked police, prompting authorities to deploy 200 more officers. Prime Minister Keir Starmer condemned the unrest, saying there was no justification for violence against people based on their background. Police said there was no indication the stabbing was terrorism-related.

In percentage terms, the market performance during the Modi era trails the gains recorded under the UPA government, led by former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh. Between 2004 and 2014, the Sensex surged nearly 400%, rising from 4,961 to 24,693.

Dalal-Street gives 200% return during PM Modi's 12-year tenure

Market cap of BSE-listed firms grew from ₹85 lakh cr to ₹455 lakh cr over the last 12 years

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

SINCE Narendra Modi became Prime Minister for the first time in 2014, the domstic equity market benchmarks have delivered returns of nearly 200% each, with the BSE Sensex gaining 200% and NSE Nifty50 surging 215% over 12 years. A day before Modi took oath after the NDA coalition defeated the UPA coalition, the Sensex had closed at 24,693 and the Nifty settled at 7,367 on May 23, 2014.

In June 2026, the Sensex has climbed to near 74,000 level while Nifty50 is trading around 23,200. Owing to a stronger rally in midcap and smallcap pockets, the market capitalisation of BSE-listed companies grew from ₹85 lakh crore to ₹455 lakh crore over the last 12 years.

However, in percentage terms, the market's performance during the Modi era trails the gains recorded under the UPA regime led by then Prime Minister Manmohan Singh. Between 2004 and 2014, the Sensex rallied nearly 400%, soaring from 4,961 to 24,693, a significantly stronger percentage return than that seen during the Modi years.

The comparison comes as Modi on Wednesday became India's longest serving Prime Minister. During Modi's first tenure (May 26, 2014 to June 4, 2019), the Sensex surged from 24,122 to 38,811, delivering a 61% return. While this period marked the government's initial reforms such as the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) and early discussions on GST, market returns were hampered by relatively tepid corporate earnings amid a consumption slowdown.

However, Modi's second term as PM (June 5, 2019 to June 5, 2024) delivered much stronger returns. Despite the COVID-19 pandemic-induced crash in the first half of 2020, sentiments improved rapidly and India became a global haven for investors seeking growth. In the second term, the Sensex surged from 38,811.39 to 74,382.24 (up 91.65%) in the backdrop of full implementation of GST in 2017, corporate tax reductions and increased share of retail investors.

The third term, however, has been a tale of two ends. When Modi's third term began in June 2024 with a weaker majority, the market continued its upward journey and Sensex hit a high of 86,000 in September 2024. However, since then the market has lost momentum and global investors, who not so long ago were bullish on India, have sold local equities on an unprecedented scale.

Data from the Association of Mutual Funds in India shows that investments through SIPs remained strong in May 2026 at ₹30,954 crore, only marginally lower than ₹31,115 crore in April 2026. Meta signs pact with RIL for AI data centre in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

AI PUSH

1. RIL to build data centre with 168 MW capacity
2. Facility to support Meta's AI capabilities
3. Data centre to be powered by renewables

META and Reliance Industries have signed an agreement for an AI-enabled data centre in Jamnagar, Gujarat, marking Meta's first such facility in India.

Reliance will build the data centre with an initial capacity of 168 MW, which Meta will lease, with options to expand. The facility will support Meta's products and artificial intelligence capabilities for users in India and other markets.

"We're proud to work with Reliance to build our first AI-enabled data centre in India. This world-class facility in Jamnagar will help us scale our AI infrastructure globally while deepening our long-term investment in India's economy," Mark Zuckerberg, Founder and CEO, Meta said.

According to the companies, the data centre will be powered by renewable energy and cooled using desalinated seawater. Meta will bear the full cost of the energy and water used by the facility.

Jamnagar is also the site of a data centre campus being developed by Reliance. The first phase will provide 168 MW of capacity, with the option to scale further. Meta said the project would be supported by its wider network investments, including Project Waterworth, a subsea cable system.

Meta and Reliance have expanded a partnership that began several years ago. In 2020, Meta invested $5.7 billion in Jio Platforms. The companies later collaborated on bringing Meta's open-source AI models to enterprises and developers in India.

Data centre power use to surge by 26% in '26 globally

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

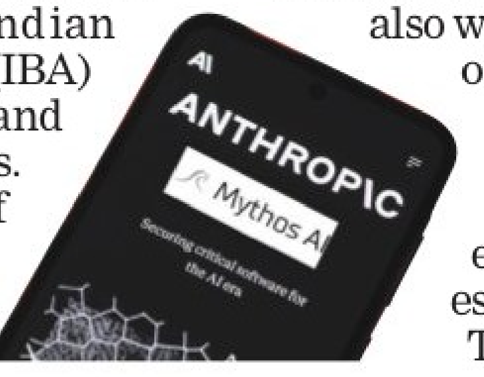
GLOBAL electricity consumption by data centres is expected will reach 565 terawatt hours (TWh) in 2026, up 26.4% from 447 TWh in 2025, according to Gartner.

The research firm said global data centre power demand is likely to rise to 132 gigawatts (GW) in 2026 from 104GW in 2025. Demand may reach 290 GW by 2030."Surging demand for compute-intensive AI workloads is driving unprecedented data centre power growth, while AI capacity is constrained by power availability, making data centre power security new battle ground for scaling and protecting margins in global AI race," said Linglan Wang, analyst at Gartner.

Gartner said AI-optimised servers will account for 31% of data centre power consumption in 2026. Their power consumption may exceed that of conventional servers in 2027. As per the firm's estimates, power consumption by AI-optimised servers will rise to 175 TWh in 2026 from 95 TWh in 2025. Consumption by conventional servers is forecast to increase to 195 TWh in 2026 from 193TWh in 2025.

Centre ropes in Infosys to help bankers navigate risks associated with Mythos AI

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi



FINANCE ministry has sought assistance from Infosys to help bankersidentify risks and challenges associated with Mythos AI, as per sources aware of the development. Sources said personnel from the Bengaluru-based IT major have been deployed to the Indian Banks' Association (IBA) to provide training and guidance to bankers.

The Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) is also working with technology companies such as Microsoft to ensure that bankers receive hands-on training and exposure to emerging artificial intelligence tools.

"We have deployed two officials from Infosys at the IBA to address the challenges and provide proper training. MeitY is also working with technology giants such as Microsoft to ensure hands-on training on Mythos and other AI models," sources said.

The move is part of the government's broader push to accelerate the adoption of AI while identifying potential risks across the financial sector and improving operational efficiency.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had described Mythos as "a new challenge" for the financial system. Mythos is a frontier AI model developed by US-based AI company Anthropic. There have been growing concerns among bankers and financial institutions that advanced AI models could pose risks to the security and integrity of financial systems.

Govt to deploy more trade remedies for steel sector

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government will continue to deploy trade remedial measures to protect the domestic steel industry from dumping and unfair import practices, while balancing the interests of downstream industries that depend heavily on steel as a key raw material, Director General of Trade Remedies (DGTR) and Additional Secretary in the Commerce Ministry Amitabh Kumar said on Wednesday.

Speaking on the issue of steel imports, Kumar emphasised that while several trade remedial measures are already in force, investigations into additional cases are underway to curb unfair imports.

"Some trade remedial measures are already in force for steel imports, while others are under investigation to minimise unfair imports. We need to produce steel because it is an economic imperative for our growth. At the same time, steel is a critical input for domestic industries. Therefore, when trade remedial measures are imposed on unfair imports of steel, they may affect some users. That balance has to be maintained," he said.

The domestic steel industry has repeatedly flagged concerns over dumping by countries such as China, Japan and South Korea.

According to official data, imports of finished steel more than doubled over the last five years, rising from 4.7 million tonnes in 2020-21 to 9.5 million tonnes in 2024-25.

India counters US claims on overcapacity, cites rising domestic demand

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

REJECTING US allegations of excess manufacturing capacity, the Directorate General of Trade Remedies (DGTR) on Wednesday asserted that India doesn't suffer from overcapacity and that production in sectors such as steel and textiles is primarily geared towards meeting growing domestic demand rather than generating export surpluses.

Speaking on the issue, DGTR Director General and Additional Secretary in the Commerce Ministry, Amitabh Kumar, said allegations of overcapacity and trade-distorting subsidies against India do not hold ground, as the country neither possesses significant surplus manufacturing capacity in these sectors nor provides export-linked subsidies that could lead to dumping of goods in overseas markets.

"We generally do not provide subsidies. They, of course, challenge several of our schemes," Kumar said, adding that India does not offer direct subsidies to manufacturers that would artificially enhance their competitiveness in global markets.

Kumar's remarks come against the backdrop of an investigation launched by the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR) under Section 301 of the US Trade Act of 1974. Initiated in March, the probe is examining whether trade and industrial policies in countries, including India, contribute to excess domestic capacity that may result in dumping in the US market. The USTR has identified sectors such as steel, textiles, petrochemicals, solar equipment, automobiles and healthcare products as part of its review.

Rejecting the premise of overcapacity, Kumar said India's production levels must be viewed in the context of its large population and expanding domestic market. He noted that manufacturing output is often aimed at meeting rising domestic demand rather than creating excess capacity for exports.

Airtel renames 'Priority Postpaid' as 'Fast Lane'

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

TELECOM service provider Bharti Airtel has rebranded its "Priority Postpaid" service, which had triggered a debate over net neutrality, as "Fast Lane." It has updated the branding on its website, and mobile phones are displaying the "Fast Lane" name instead of "Priority Postpaid."

However, Airtel clarified that it has not withdrawn the Priority Postpaid plan. As per a company spokesperson, "There is no question of withdrawal of our new postpaid plan. To the contrary, we have had a satisfying response to the launch of our new plan backed by 5G slicing technology."

"With this launch, we are seeing an improvement in the delivered experience across both prepaid and postpaid users. This is because the deployment of our new standalone network has increased network efficiency for all. Our new postpaid plan is available to all customers in a simple, transparent and ubiquitous way. Using our slicing technology, we are able to offer our postpaid users enhanced speed," the spokesperson said. Airtel launched the "Priority Postpaid" service on May 19, promising consistent internet speeds for postpaid customers. The company says its 5G-enabled service provides a "fast lane" to subscribers during periods of peak traffic by dynamically allocating a portion of network resources to eligible users via network slicing technology.

The launch of the plan has sparked a debate over whether such services violate the principles of net neutrality. Net neutrality norms are intended to ensure that all internet users receive non-discriminatory access to online content and services, irrespective of the amount they pay.

QUICK PASSES

Messi sparkles as Argentina beat Iceland

AUBURN: Argentina's superstar Lionel Messi scored moments after coming off the bench on Tuesday to dispel any injury doubts and help the holders win their final warm-up game. The 38-year-old had not featured for Argentina in the build-up to their title defence after injuring a hamstring playing for Inter Miami in late May. He was introduced as a substitute with 20 minutes left against Iceland and his clever through ball played in Lautaro Martinez, who was fouled in the box. Messi lashed in the penalty to help team ease to a 3-0 win.

Influencer to anchor all 104 ties to Brazil fans

GUADALAJARA: In Brazil, the only way to watch all 104 games of the WC will be through a streaming platform anchored by an influencer. Elsewhere, users will get to see parts of ties live on YouTube and TikTok for the first time. Forget about the exclusivity of over-the-air networks: The WC will be watched differently this time. As FIFA pushes to engage a new generation of fans, younger audiences will have more options to access football's showcase event thanks to what FIFA describes as a record number of deals with broadcast partners that carry digital-only platforms.

UNHR urges US to rethink policy for immigration

GENEVA: The United Nations' top human rights official called Wednesday for a "massive rethink" of immigration policies especially in the United States around the World Cup. Issues around "racial profiling, surveillance and immigration enforcement" were cited by U.N. High Commissioner for Human Rights Volker Türk even before the tournament starts Thursday. "I hope that the issues around racial profiling, around surveillance, around immigration enforcement are not going to affect this World Cup in the way that they have already done," the Austrian lawyer said.

The hosts welcome South Africa in a repeat of the first fixture from the 2010 World Cup. A look...

YOUNGSTER MORA'S SPARKLE

The hosts will be defensively solid and will be led by the veteran Raul Jimenez. But if Javier Aguirre wants to change it up, he can start the super talented 17-year-old, Gilberto Mora. He's one of the most gifted playmakers to emerge from the country in decades.

BAFANA-BAFANA HAVE TO HIT GROUND RUNNING

South Africa know they have a big chance to make a run. But for that, they need to adapt to altitude. This is their first match back in the biggest stage since the year they hosted in 2010.

Mexico's football cathedral

Though called as Mexico City Stadium for this tournament, Estadio Azteca is one rich in history, especially when it comes to World Cups. Swaroop Swaminathan takes a look at the venue which will host the opening game and what it means to the co-hosts...

SOME of the world's greatest sporting arenas breathe life and have a light around them. The Melbourne Cricket Ground (MCG) is one that Indians readily make a connection. Outside of cricket, the All England Club (tennis; London), Istora in (Indonesia; Asia) and Hayward Field (athletics; US) are generally considered as the standard bearers for iconic venues.

In football, there's obviously the Maracana in Brazil. But, generally, though the big daddy of stadiums is the Estadio Azteca in Mexico City. Its walls has seen some of the greatest stories ever told by footballers and its grass has been the blank canvas for a plethora of sporting achievements.

Pele lifted the title here in 1970. Diego Maradona lifted it in 1986. The walkways to the Stadium holds more history in them than history books and the people who have visited the Stadium can still hear the electricity ringing inside their ears decades later. It's what the place genuinely does to you. A mythical sporting temple. A football cathedral where people of all faith — including non-believers — are welcome to come and genuflect before it. After all, this is where the Gods come to see mortals be deified. On Thursday afternoon, over 72500 locals will throng this famous, old stadium — a homage to football, really — to officially see the start of the 23rd edition of the men's football World Cup.

Pretty much like most of the rest of the world, Mexico were passionate about football. And that passion was one reason why the Azteca came into being during the 1960s, at a time when the Maracana stood as the sport's sanctum sanctorum. As soon as the country decided to stage the World Cup, they knew they wanted a venue to fit their grand plans. So, their designers and architects travelled through Europe's famous venues in the hope of getting inspired. "Wembley, the San Siro, Camp Nou and the Santiago Bernabeu were all scrutinised," fifa.com noted in a piece about the stadium.

Once they had a general idea in mind, they got to work. "To achieve a firm surface on which a stadium could be built, 180 million kilos of rock had to be dislodged from 64,000 square metres of land," the same fifa.com article said. "Ten architects, 17 technicians, 35 engineers and 800 labourers worked daily and, though it took almost a year, they ultimately managed to dynamite the necessary rock so that work on the actual stadium could begin in 1962."

In 1970, the Azteca finally welcomed the world to its house. And the world, it's fair to say looking back to what that event created, thanked Mexico in return. It was the first time that the event was broadcast across the world. It was also the first time that the competition was held outside South America and Europe.

In the process, the Azteca also hosted the game the world now calls 'Game of the Century'; Italy 4-3 West Germany. The final itself was won by Brazil. "There's just something very special about the Azteca," was how Pele described the venue. "You need to be inside it, to feel it to understand. It's unique."

ESTADIO
CIUDAD DE MÉXIC
FIFA WORLD CUP 2026

The historic Estadio Azteca gearing up for the opening game between co-hosts Mexico & South Africa. It will be the 20th time that the Stadium will be hosting a match at the World Cup. It's last match was the 1986 final | AFP

16 years later, when the country became the first to host the World Cup twice, the Azteca created more memories, including Maradona's famous 'Hand of God' as well as the 'Goal of the Century'. Two of the most talked about events in football history.

****

Mexico have a somewhat weird relationship with the Cup. They are neither royalty nor outsiders. The last time they didn't feature at the bash was in 1990 but they have made the last eight only twice (1970 & 1986). However, they are one of the few teams to have advanced to the next stage on seven consecutive occasions. But when this streak was broken in 2022, it prompted a lot of soul-searching. It was akin to a death in the family.

That sense of loss and suffering, the pall of gloom, will be lifted to some extent when the lights at the Azteca are flicked on. Not many countries can boast of hosting a World Cup for a second time. The Azteca, meanwhile, will welcome the world for a third time.

The country has spent a fair few pesos in giving it a fresh coat of paint. Overall, though, the venue hasn't gotten the marquee fixtures in a US-dominated World Cup. But the locals won't care.

The Colossus of Santa Ursula's World Cup final could be a round of 16 clash on July 5. If results hold, it will be between Mexico (Winner Group A and England (Winner Group L). And if the hosts win that match, the roar of the Azteca, situated at a height of over 2kms over sea level, will reverberate for a few years.

And England will do well to beware. In 60 years of Mexico at the Azteca, they have lost seven times out of 92. For the time being, though, they will happily settle for a win over South Africa on Thursday to kickstart a dream in the house built to kickstart another dream 65 years ago.

Chasing greatness

HOLDERS ARGENTINA WILL BE AIMING TO BECOME ONLY THE THIRD SIDE TO DEFEND THE CROWN WHILE TEAMS LIKE PORTUGAL AND ENGLAND WILL BE LOOKING TO DENY THAT. A LOOK AT GROUPS J, K & L

GROUP J

Argentina: World No 3
Algeria: World No 28
Austria: World No 24
Jordan: World No 63

After the high of 2022, Argentina will be looking to defend their crown. If they can pull it off, they'll follow the footsteps of Italy (1934, 1938) and Brazil (1958, 1962). The focus will be on Lionel Messi once again as this is set to be his final World Cup. Besides Messi, Argentina have a host of talented players Nico Paz, Enzo Fernandez and Julian Alvarez, who can produce some magic. Algeria, meanwhile, are back after missing out on the last two editions. Forward Moamed Amoura was the standout during their qualifying campaign and he'll be intent to maintain his scoring touch at the big stage. Captain Riyad Mahrez also brings in lot of experience.

GROUP K

Portugal: World No 5
DR Congo: World No 46
Uzbekistan: World No 50
Colombia: World No 13

The importance of this World Cup can't be understated for Portugal, who'll be eager to win it for Cristiano Ronaldo. In-form Bruno Fernandes will be determined to bring his A game for Portugal. Colombia boast some exciting players like Luis Diaz, Luis Suarez who can hurt rival defenders. Congo will be a hard team to break down.

GROUP L

England: World No 4, Croatia: World No 11, Ghana: World No 74, Panama: World No 33

England will be looking to win the title for the first time since 1966. When manager Thomas Tuchel announced the squad, eyeballs were raised as he dropped some big names.

Nevertheless, they boast some big stars like Harry Kane, who had an outstanding season with Bayern. Bukayo Saka is another exciting player who could take the WC by storm. Jude Bellingham and Declan Rice will be the engine of the side at the heart of midfield. Croatia, who beat England in the semis of 2018 edition, also have high ambitions. In midfield, coach Zlatko Dalic can rely on the likes of Luca Modric, Mateo Kovacic, Mario Pasalic and Nikola Vlasic. Panama, led by their iconic captain Anibal Godoy, are clear underdogs but hope to leave a strong impression.

SON THE STAR

Son Heung-Min's storied career in European club football has been punctuated by three goals at the WC but he didn't score at the 2022 edition. He's getting on but he will believe that he still has it in him to inspire his nation for perhaps one final time.

SCHICK'S GOALS THE KEY

As Czech Republic/Czechia, they have a very middling record as they have only featured in one edition (2006). Patrik Schick's presence will be key if they are to advance from a very presentable group.

Shreyanka 2.0 ready to roar on grand stage

GOMESH S @Chennai

A LITTLE after India beat Australia in the first of the three T20Is at the Sydney Cricket Ground earlier this year, Shreyanka Patil found herself wandering into the dressing room alone.

At least she thought she was.The rain-interrupted match ended in the favour of the visitors (21 runs (DLS method)) but Patil, on her comeback, had gone for 24 runs in two overs. After being out of the team for more than a year because of injuries, she had landed in Australia filled with hopes of a fairytale return. For her, it had felt like making her India debut all over again. The nerves were there wearing the blue clothing again, but having done the hard yards and ticked all the boxes in the training leading up to the first T20I, she had hoped for things to go her way. When that did not happen, she did not know how to react. Disturbed and heartbroken, she entered the dressing room not knowing Smriti Mandhana was there too."When I went, I just saw Smriti and then I hugged her. And then tears started rolling down," Patil recalled in a conversation with this daily after the South Africa tour. As someone who is not afraid of being vulnerable, Patil wanted to let it all out.

ACROSS the mountains, plains and farmlands of Northern India, wellness has long been shaped by a blend of traditional medicine, spirituality and local ecological knowledge.

Unlike structured spa therapies or modern wellness programmes, many of these practices remain deeply woven into everyday life, drawing upon centuries-old healing systems that continue to be passed down through generations.

HIMACHAL PRADESH AND LADAKH

In the Trans-Himalayan regions of Ladakh and Himachal Pradesh's Lahaul-Spiti district, wellness is closely linked to Sowa-Rigpa, an ancient Tibetan-influenced medical system. One of the most distinctive therapies within this system is moxibustion, in which cone-shaped tufts of dried mugwort, known as moxa, are burned on specific meridian points of the body. The practice is believed to stimulate circulation and address ailments associated with cold climatic conditions. Thermal spring bathing also forms an important part of the region's healing traditions. Natural sulphur springs such as those at Vashisht near Manali and Chumathang in Ladakh are visited for ritual baths, often accompanied by prayers intended to ease joint pain and restore physical balance.

UTTAR PRADESH AND BIHAR

Across the rural heartlands of Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, traditional healing often occupies the space between medicine and faith. Jhad-Phook remains a widely recognised practice used to address sudden illnesses, mild fevers, anxiety and conditions believed to arise from negative influences. During the ritual, a healer gently brushes the patient with peacock feathers or neem twigs while reciting protective prayers. The act symbolically removes harmful energies and restores balance to the individual.

UTTARAKHAND

In the hills of Kumaon and Garhwal, wellness often extends beyond the physical realm and simply forest bathing. The traditional practice of Jagar is rooted in the belief that chronic fatigue, mental distress and certain unexplained ailments may stem from dissatisfied ancestral spirits or local deities. The ritual typically unfolds over an entire night. A singer known as the Jagariya plays traditional instruments such as the daunr and thali while reciting sacred narratives and epics. Through rhythmic music and chanting, a medium known as the Pashuwa enters a trance-like state. Once possessed by the invoked spirit, the medium is believed to reveal the emotional, spiritual or lifestyle imbalances that need to be addressed for healing to occur.

HARYANA

In rural Haryana, traditional healers have long practised a robust form of Snehana and Svedana — oil massage and induced sweating. The treatment begins with the patient reclining on a woven jute charpai or cot, while the healer massages the body using cold-pressed mustard or sesame oil infused with locally sourced herbs and weeds. The process is followed by a sweating ritual in which the patient sits over a steaming vessel filled with boiled neem and eucalyptus leaves. Wrapped in a heavy cotton quilt known as a khes, the individual undergoes a deep warming treatment intended to encourage perspiration and remove accumulated toxins.

PUNJAB

The state's wellness traditions are deeply influenced by its agricultural heritage. One long-standing practice is Mitti Chikitsa or mud therapy, used particularly for skin ailments and excessive internal body heat during the region's intense summers. Soil is collected from deep underground, dried in the sun, mixed with neem-infused water and then applied to the body in the form of therapeutic wraps. The state's wrestling culture has also given rise to a respected tradition of Haddi-Vaidya or bone-setting. Experienced bone-setters and pehalwans are known for treating severe sprains and joint dislocations through rhythmic manual manipulation. Treatments are typically followed by the application of a binding mixture made from turmeric, flour and mustard oil.

STAGE OF DREAMS

With the 30th edition of Mrs Globe set to go live in California from June 16, Veena Jain, National Director for India for Mrs Classique Globe, and Arpitha Lankesh, India's delegate this year, speak about preparation and representing the country on the international stage

Arpitha Lankesh

KALYANI WARRIER

FOR Veena Jain, confidence is not just a quality; it is the foundation of every successful pageant journey. As National Director for India for Mrs Classique Globe, Jain has spent months preparing this year's Indian delegate, Arpitha Lankesh, for the global stage, convinced that self-belief often matters more than grooming, styling or even the perfect ramp walk.

The same belief will soon be put to the test as over 100 delegates from across the world gather in Palm Springs, California, for this year's Mrs Globe pageant, to be held from June 16 to 21. Marking its 30th anniversary since its inception in 1996, the event will, for the first time, host all six Mrs Globe competitions under one roof.

Jain's association with the pageant dates back to 2017, when she won the Best Speaker title at Mrs Globe. Looking back, she says the platform has only evolved for the better. "It's never the same theme. Every year, they have different wardrobes, styles and makeovers. The Mrs Globe team are great communicators and works directly with the candidates. This year's theme was announced six months in advance and we began training immediately," she shares enthusiastically.

While the pageant has changed over the years, Jain's philosophy has remained the same. Jain believes confidence is what truly sets contestants apart. She notes, "A candidate's confidence can change the game. When it comes to assessing personality, confidence plays a key role. There's nothing like it."

This year, Jain has selected Bengaluru-based Lankesh as India's delegate for Mrs Classique Globe. The decision, she says, was made instantly. "The moment I set my eyes on her, I knew she was going to be my delegate. Her athletic build and confidence reeled me in," says Jain, who has been mentoring Lankesh for the past seven months. "Though she was nervous initially, as the training progressed, she became more confident with every step of the process," she explains.

The months leading up to the competition have involved balancing work commitments with training, preparation and mentoring sessions. The experience helped Lankesh step out of her comfort zone and discover new confidence in herself.

An IT professional and entrepreneur, she admits that participating in a beauty pageant was never part of her plans. "Pageants were never on my radar. I had never imagined myself on a stage like this. At times, the process felt overwhelming, but as the training progressed, I started enjoying every bit of it," she effuses.

Lankesh goes on to explain the essence of the Mrs Globe pageant, which is keeping in touch with other delegates through weekly meetings called 'Monday Memos'. "I feel so connected with all the delegates competing for the Mrs Classique Globe. It feels like sisterhood. The team is professional and prepares us mentally. It's not about winning or losing, but about building a personality where confidence plays a major role," shares Lankesh, wife of director-producer Indrajit Lankesh.

She says she feels honoured representing the country. "I take this opportunity to meet new people and be introduced to new cultures that I had no idea about previously," Lankesh concludes, before she returns to prep for her big day.

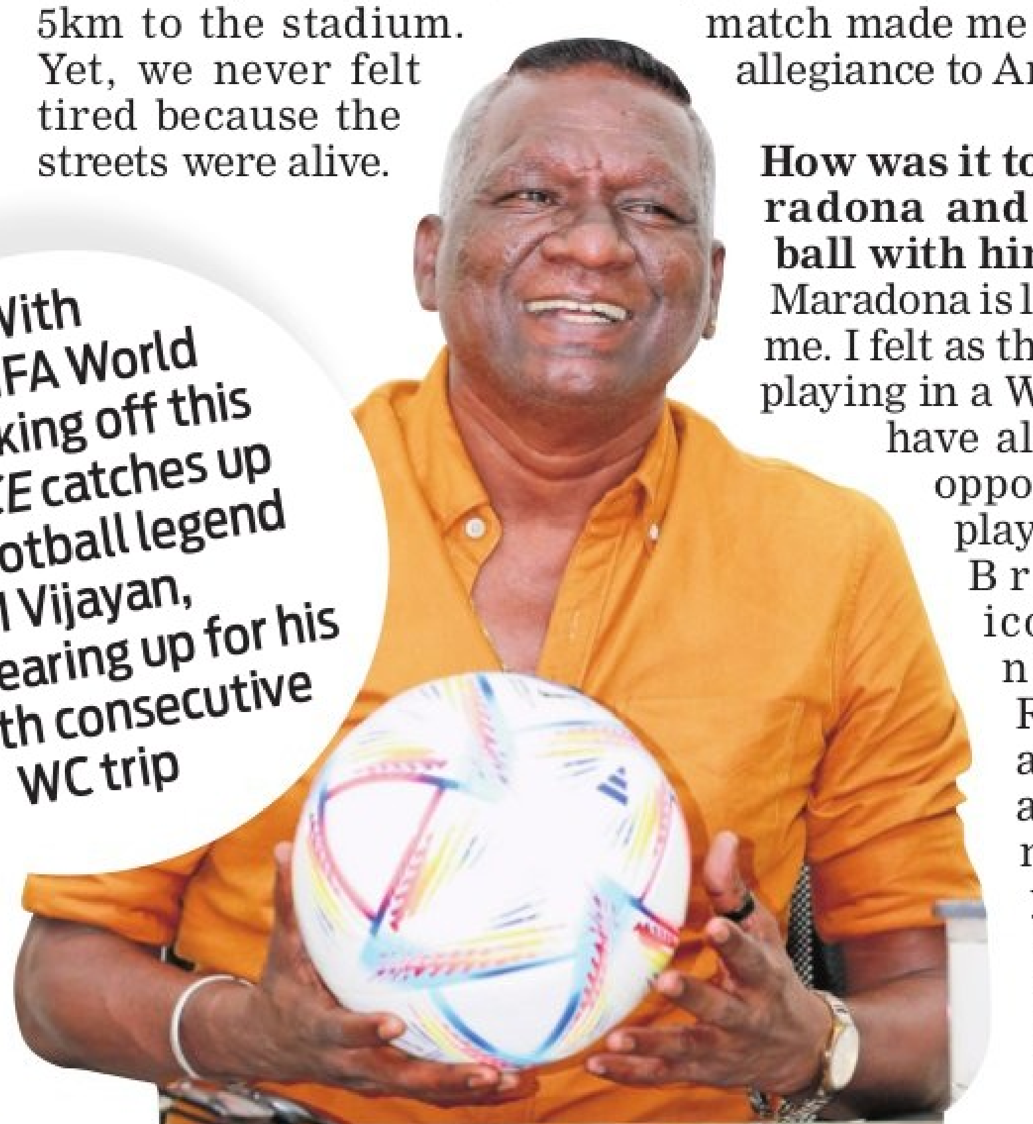
Let's Football!

With the FIFA World Cup kicking off this week, CE catches up with football legend IM Vijayan, who is gearing up for his seventh consecutive WC trip

Football legends Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo



MANISHA V C S

NO matter how many times it is told, the story of a lanky boy, who once sold soda and peanuts in Kerala becoming the 'Black Pearl' of Indian football continues to give a high. Former Indian football star IM Vijayan, as they say, remains an invigorating emotion for football enthusiasts. Vijayan is a familiar face in Bengaluru, a city he frequents for football events and public appearances. Now, with the FIFA World Cup fast-approaching, the football legend is preparing for his seventh consecutive trip to watch the match live. Vijayan is set for a rare feat: attending all World Cup finals since 2002.

All set for the World Cup?
Oh, yes. I will be going to the US on July 8. We will watch the semi-finals and finals, as we have done every four years for the past two decades. Not many people from India, and certainly not many footballers, have had the opportunity to attend seven consecutive World Cups. I believe it is quite rare.

Many World Cup travellers are skipping this edition...
It could be true because the ticket prices are high. Getting a US visa is difficult, and so is obtaining match tickets. Last week, I was in the US with friends. Even they are frustrated with ticket prices.

Which was the first World Cup you attended?
The Korea-Japan World Cup in 2002. We witnessed Brazil lift their fifth title that year. Both teams (Germany and Brazil) were top-notch. Led by Cafu, Brazil had the likes of Roberto Carlos, Ronaldinho, Rivaldo, Ronaldo. Brazil won 2-0. Ronaldo scored two goals.

You must have had several unforgettable memories...
A vivid memory is from Brazil in 2014. It was a World Cup bubbling with celebrations. Before the Brazil-Germany semi-final, we had to walk 5km to the stadium. Yet, we never felt tired because the streets were alive.

What are your thoughts on this year's tournament?
Although Argentina is my favourite, I would love to see Cristiano Ronaldo lift the Cup. Messi has already won one, which many of us wished for.

Ah, this could become a talking point. Your love for Argentina is legendary...
I was a Brazil fan until 1986. I was 17 when Argentina played England in the World Cup quarter-final. That historic match made me switch my allegiance to Argentina.

How was it to meet Maradona and head the ball with him?
Maradona is like a god to me. I felt as though I was playing in a World Cup. I have also had the opportunity to play alongside Brazilian icons – Ronaldinho, Ronaldo and Cafu in a legends' match last year. We are planning another such event.

QUICK SHOTS

For the first time in history, three nations will be hosting the FIFA World Cup – Canada, Mexico & the US

104 matches will be played across 16 cities

Four countries will be playing at the World Cup for the first time: Jordan, Uzbekistan, Curaçao and Cape Verde

Curaçao, a tiny Caribbean island nation with a population of around 156,000 – is the smallest nation to qualify for a World Cup

D R Congo and Haiti are returning after a 52-year absence

The youngest player this year is Mexico's 17-year-old Gilberto Mora

The oldest is Scotland's 43-year-old Craig Gordon

Madonna, Shakira and BTS will headline the finals' halftime show, on July 19 at New York – New Jersey Stadium. The event will be curated by Chris Martin

Mexico will become the first country to host World Cup matches in three editions (1970, 1986 and 2026)

The FIFA World Cup 2026 begins on June 12 (kickoff at 12.30am IST). The semi-finals will be held in Dallas and Atlanta on July 15 and 16, respectively, while the final will take place at New York - New Jersey Stadium on July 20 (per IST)

How Corporate Decision-Making Is Changing Amid Global Disruption

Energy security, agile leadership and real-time decision-making are emerging as key differentiators for businesses navigating an increasingly volatile global environment.

Ashwin Muthiah, Founder Chairman, AM International

The world over, businesses are building resilience by fundamentally overhauling how leadership teams make decisions. Traditionally, planning cycles allowed for long-term visibility, with organisations mapping scenarios on an annual or quarterly basis. That rhythm has changed. Leaders now operate on two levels simultaneously. They respond to immediate pressures with agility while concurrently constructing a flexible, future-ready blueprint. The decision-making environment is no longer linear; it is dynamic, compressed, and increasingly data-driven.

The current landscape of global uncertainty tests not just markets, but mindsets. During such times, one variable that consistently moves to the centre of corporate strategy is energy. Amid shifting supply chains, regional alliances and new trade equations, energy security has become a defining industrial advantage.

In that respect, energy is much more than a cost line - it is the linchpin that holds manufacturing strength, productivity, and economic stability together. Data compiled by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation shows that nearly 89% of India's crude supplies are import-dependent, highlighting the scale of the country's reliance on foreign sources of fossil fuels. While the transition towards renewable energy is accelerating, especially with the Indian government's renewed push, global energy uncertainty demands flexibility.

One of the clearest signs of this shift is the way raw material sourcing and procurement have evolved. What could earlier be planned on a quarterly basis now demands daily reviews. Structures around cost determination and movement of goods are now susceptible to change overnight. As a result, organisations are now treating instability as the new baseline. They are combining speed with disciplined risk assessment to secure materials while managing exposure. By converting volatility into opportunity, agile leaders can consistently steer their organisations to sustain growth and profitability.

For corporates especially in the manufacturing sector, this has meant strengthening real-time intelligence, establishing tighter cross-functional coordination, and empowering on-ground leadership to make faster, well-informed decisions. The goal is not simply to react but to build the structural agility required to thrive in an increasingly unpredictable environment.

Global research increasingly supports this approach. A study on operational resilience found that organisations investing in predictive analytics and real-time monitoring reduced disruption-related downtime by up to 30%. These insights underline a core truth: it is no longer about ROI (returns on investment) but ROV (return on viability). Operating models must be able to withstand stress and remain viable despite building pressure.

In my view, agility in itself does not suffice. Disruption, historically, has been a catalyst for reconfiguration. It opens a window for industry players to guide investments for the long-term, be it in debottlenecking plants, modernising maintenance practices, and opting for AI-driven digital tools across operations to enhance efficiency, resilience and productivity.

Advanced monitoring systems, predictive maintenance, and digitally enabled workforce training are helping organisations adapt faster to the accelerating pace of change. These capabilities are not just cost optimisers; they are strategic differentiators in a world where speed, quality, and reliability increasingly determine market leadership. In many ways, periods of disruption fast-track transformation that organisations may otherwise postpone. As Winston Churchill famously observed, "Never let a good crisis go to waste."

The current times might be the most unexpected disruptions of our times, but they force clarity and adaptability. As inefficiencies become exposed, stronger decision-making and accelerated innovation is the only way forward. To surge ahead, leaders must first deeply invest in their people. By building the cultural muscle hinged on discipline, adaptability, and thoughtful risk-taking, organisations can successfully balance immediate priorities and concurrently, micro-pivot towards an evolving future. Crises are, in a way, change at a speed we are not always prepared for. I believe it is an opportunity in disguise to rethink, rebuild, and realign to emerge stronger and more competitive on the other side. In the end, the difference lies in whether you react or reorient for the future.

I recently turned vegan. How do I could keep up my protein intake and gain weight in a healthy way?

A well-planned vegan diet can provide enough protein and support healthy weight gain. Focus on protein-rich plant foods such as lentils, beans, chickpeas, tofu, tempeh, edamame, soy milk, quinoa, nuts and seeds. Include a source of protein in every meal and snack throughout the day.

ASK AN XPERT

To gain weight in a healthy way, aim for a small calorie surplus by adding nutrient-dense foods like nut butters, avocados, trail mix and smoothies made with plant-based protein sources.

Strength training is also important, as it helps ensure that the extra calories support muscle growth rather than just fat gain.

The key is consistency. Meeting your daily protein needs, eating enough overall calories and following a progressive strength-training programme will help you gain weight while maintaining good health and energy levels.

YOGA PRACTICES TO EASE NECK & SHOULDER STIFFNESS

Neck and shoulder stiffness is common after long hours of sitting, phone use, driving, stress or poor posture. The neck often feels tight when the shoulders and upper back are not moving enough. Gentle yoga can help by improving mobility, posture, breathing and awareness without forcing the body.

Here are five simple practices to try:

1. SEATED NECK RELEASE

Sit on a chair or on the mat. Keep the spine tall and shoulders relaxed. Slowly drop the right ear towards the right shoulder. Do not pull the head with the hand. Stay for three to five breaths and repeat on the other side.

2. GARUDASANA ARMS (EAGLE ARMS)

Sit or stand tall. Stretch both arms forward. Cross the right arm over the left and bend the elbows. If wrapping the arms is difficult, hold opposite shoulders instead. Keep the shoulders away from the ears. Stay for a few breaths and change sides.

3. MARJARIASANA-BITILASANA (CAT-COW POSE)

Come on your hands and knees. Keep the hands under the shoulders and knees under the hips. Inhale and gently lift the chest and tailbone. Exhale and round the back slowly. Repeat eight to 10 times.

4. THREAD THE NEEDLE

From hands and knees, slide the right arm under the left arm. Rest the right shoulder and side of the head lightly on the mat. Do not force the twist or press weight. Stay for three to five breaths and repeat on the other side.

5. BALASANA (CHILD'S POSE) WITH ARMS FORWARD

Sit the hips back towards the heels and stretch the arms forward. Let the neck relax. If sitting on the heels is uncomfortable, place both hands on a chair and gently move the hips back to stretch the shoulders and upper back.

Move slowly and breathe normally. If there is sharp pain, dizziness, numbness, tingling or pain travelling down the arm, stop and seek professional advice.

Thirteen-year-old playback singer Krishnadiya Ajith is raising awareness for childhood schizophrenia through music

EXPRESS FEATURES

HAVING performed with prominent playback singers such as the Padma Bhushan-awardee KS Chithra, Unni Menon, MG Sreekumar and musical band Thaikkuddam Bridge, 13-year-old Krishnadiya Ajith has been steadily making a name for herself as a rising artist ever since she participated in the Malayalam television show Flowers Top Singer at just 5 years old. Recently, she launched a multi-part musical initiative in collaboration with Alive India Studio to raise awareness and foster social empathy for childhood-onset schizophrenia.

Conversations around schizophrenia are often hushed, wrapped in stigma, and misunderstood. Childhood schizophrenia is even more misunderstood, misdiagnosed and often ignored by parents. By blending cinematic visuals with a powerful vocal narrative, the campaign aims to break the silence surrounding early-onset mental health struggles and encourage families to identify early warning signs. Her first musical project for the initiative, Muskane x Anxiety, released in February, has already crossed 4,50,000 views across platforms.

After her popularity in Flowers Top Singer, Ajith has transitioned into a professional singer and recording artist, trained by artists such as the music director M Jayachandran and playback singer Vijesh Gopal. She has covered songs like Vanne Ponnonam and Mazhaneer Thullikal, which were released on global platforms like Apple Music and Spotify, and is also starting out as a playback singer in Malayalam and Kannada films. In Kannada cinema, she has sung for the movie, Rekke Bandu, as well as the TV serial, Namma Lachi.

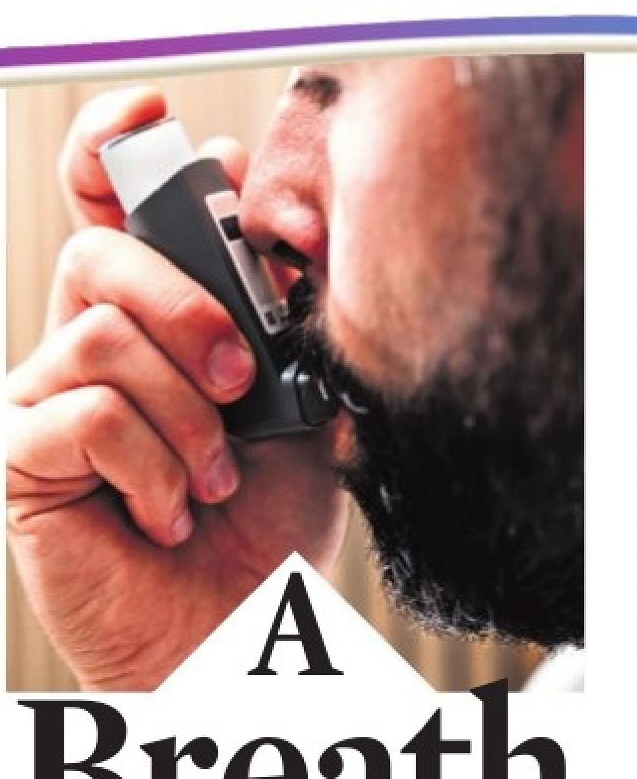
Despite being only 13, Ajith has performed over 40 stage shows while making her own musical compositions, acting in TV advertisements, and being the founder of the musical web series, Mittai by Krishnadiya, where she covers popular songs, performs original compositions, as well as devotional music. She has also won the Best Child Singer award at the Media Hub International Film Festival in 2022.

As her campaign continues to gain momentum, Ajith hopes to partner with local schools and mental health organisations to expand the reach of her message. This is not her first stint in partnering with associations for social causes, having previously associated with the State Health Ministry of Kerala during the pandemic where she voiced the character of 'Ammukutty', to help promote awareness about the virus. She is also the brand ambassador of the Kozhikode Indian Medical Association's HPV Vaccine Awareness module to fight against cervical cancer in children.

Recently invited on an Akashvani All India Radio, Bengaluru, programme on child prodigies, she discussed her contributions towards public awareness initiatives through her various music albums and initiatives.



A Breath of Relief

With World Asthma Awareness Month having recently passed in May and high rates of the disease in densely packed, polluted cities, a new asthma clinic has been launched in B'luru

CHANDANA NAGARAJU

WITH thousands of new diagnoses every year and around 35 million people in India alone suffering from the disease, it's more important now than ever to improve asthma treatment, especially for people living in overpopulated, overpolluted cities like Bengaluru. "Out of ten school-going children, five children have asthma and suffer from it at one time or another in their lifetime. 90 per cent of those same children continue to have asthma as they grow into adults. And of course, there are a few who develop asthma in the due course of their lifetime," says Dr Vasunethra Kasargod, consultant Pulmonologist and expert in Respiratory medicine at VR Chest and Women Care Clinic, sharing some startling statistics at the launch of Airway Clinic, HRBR Layout.

VR Chest and Women Care Clinic has launched the clinic which specialises in asthma and COPD (Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease) care under the guidance of Kasargod, who attributes the large number of severe asthma cases in the country to a lack of proper treatment and underdiagnosis in early stages. "Many times, it so happens that asthma is a common disease, but is not properly treated," he says, adding that stigma about the disease also hinders diagnoses and treatment. "It's a disease which people are scared of. They are embarrassed about the disease itself and about the inhalers," he says.

Regarding the causes of asthma in cities such as Bengaluru, Kasargod explains, "Population itself is one of the major contributors. It could also be the pollen we have here – we are prone to allergies at the genetic level, not just in the form of asthma, but also allergic rhinitis, which causes wheezing, coughing, sneezing and a runny nose. Worsening pollution, worsening respiratory infections and a lot of respiratory diseases like Covid also tend to exacerbate asthma." At the clinic, he intends to use steroid-sparing medicines, known as biologics, which are less detrimental to patients with severe asthma who are otherwise dependent on steroid medications that excessively disrupt daily life.

Asthma is often triggered by allergies such as pollen and dust. Kasargod says the first step for city-dwellers in preventing asthma is to 'identify exactly what they are allergic to', which can be done using tests like the skin-pricking method or various blood investigations. The second step would be getting treatment and taking measures like wearing a mask in the case of a pollen or dust allergy. However, in case of severe asthma, continuous medication and treatment are necessary for bettering quality of life.

I DON'T HAVE THE BANDWIDTH FOR OUTSIDE NOISE: SANCHITH

The actor opens up on the release of his debut, Mango Pachcha, the audience response to his performance, years behind the camera, and why he is comfortable being introduced as Kichcha Sudeep's nephew

A SHARADHAA

WHEN Mango Pachcha released last week, it wasn't just another debut arriving in theatres. It was the first real introduction for Sanchith, the nephew of Kichcha Sudeep, who is aware of what precedes him, and knows what he wants to build beyond it.

"It has been very welcoming. People are talking about my performance, especially for a debut film, and that means a lot," he says. The film was directed by Viveka and produced by Supriyanvi Picture Studio and KRG Studios.

Sanchith assures that the reactions have not been overwhelming, but it has been important in his trajectory as an actor. "If I had gone in thinking I must stick to a blueprint, I would have ended up criticising myself more than the film itself. I am proud of Mango Pachcha. It is the film that brought me here," says Sanchith, who is also candid about the pressure that comes with lineage. "Coming from a film family, especially with a legacy like Sudeep sir's, scrutiny is inevitable. But honestly, I scrutinise myself far more than anyone else. I don't have the bandwidth for outside noise, I am already loud in my own head."

The young actor spent nearly 12 years observing cinema across departments, and that shaped how he approached his first lead role. "I didn't just want to act. I wanted to understand how cinema is built, from costumes to sound design. That experience helps me even now in performance." Mango Pachcha, he adds, demanded instinct over imitation. "Once I became Pachcha, I didn't need references. The environment and the energy on set just pulled me in."

Sanchith

Set against a storytelling style that leans into detail and texture, the film comes in a post-OTT world where audiences are far more exposed to world cinema. "People have seen everything now, from Narcos to Breaking Bad. So you cannot underestimate them anymore. That awareness made me more responsible."

Naturally, comparisons to Sudeep follow him everywhere. But he responds to them without resistance. "To be compared to a superstar like Sudeep is a compliment. There will be similarities, mannerisms, energy, and even looks. That's natural. The name may introduce me, but it is the work that will introduce me again and again."

For now, Mango Pachcha has done its first job: put him in front of an audience. But what follows will decide everything else. "I am just beginning. I don't want to simply arrive… I want to keep becoming," he signs off.

I KNOW SANCHITH IS HERE TO STAY: KAJAL KUNDER

KAJAL Kunder, who is paired opposite Sanchith in Mango Pachcha, calls it a moment she never imagined when she learnt that Kichcha Sudeep had a role in bringing her into the film. "When I was confirmed by director Viveka, I couldn't believe it. I am someone who doesn't take up space easily. My instinct is to step back. So for Sudeep sir to notice me meant everything. I just thanked him. He believed I fit the role, and that is how I became part of the film," says Kajal.

In Mango Pachcha, Kajal found it easy to step into the skin of her character. "It was a very relatable role. Everything was already in the script. I just had to understand the emotional rhythm and learn the lines. It came naturally," she says.

Working with debutant Sanchith, however, was a surprise in itself. "From day one, I knew he was here to stay. I never felt he was a newcomer," she says, and credits his strong technical understanding. "He understands angles, lighting, lenses. He is very well educated behind the scenes."

Kajal also points to his learning environment and discipline for his ease in front of the screen. "He has an institution at home and keeps learning cinema every day. That reflects in his confidence and screen presence. It is amazing to watch."

Roopesh Shetty joins the sets of KP Sreekanth's Halka Don

CE FEATURES

THE cast of director Chala's Halka Don continues to grow as actor-director Roopesh Shetty is the latest to join the Kannada-Telugu bilingual entertainer. The film is lead by Pramod and Amrutha Iyengar. Produced by KP Sreekanth under the Venus Entertainers banner, Halka Don is a commercial entertainer mounted simultaneously in Kannada and Telugu. The film marks another major project for Sreekanth, who is known for backing successful films such as Tagaru and Salaga.

Roopesh's addition brings another popular name to the ensemble. Having carved a niche across Kannada, Tulu and Tamil, the actor-filmmaker enjoys a loyal fan base, particularly in coastal Karnataka. Over the years, he has steadily expanded his presence from television and independent content to mainstream cinema, emerging as one of the region's most recognisable young talents.

The makers have remained tight-lipped about the nature of Roopesh's role, but sources indicate he will have a significant part in the narrative.

On the technical front, Halka Don has music by Charan Raj and cinematography by Advaitha Gurumurthy.

'THERE IS NO REPLACEMENT FOR SHRUTI'

...says actor Vinod Prabhakar, who was present in the launch of actor Shruti's landmark 175th film, Mother, directed by Rakesh Somanna

CE FEATURES

THERE are some milestones that are so momentous that it succinctly tells the story of an entire career. Actor Shruti has officially begun work on Mother, the 175th film in her illustrious cinematic journey. The project was recently launched, marking an important moment not just for the actor but also for an industry that has witnessed her evolution across decades.

Directed by Rakesh Somanna, Mother revolves around an illiterate woman from Mandya who fights to protect her family against all odds. The filmmaker believes audiences will get to see a side of Shruti they have never seen before.

"Mother is a very powerful story," said Somanna. "Shruti ma'am will appear in a rugged, raw avatar, and I believe that transformation will be one of the film's biggest strengths."

The film is scheduled to be shot over 35 days across Mandya and its surrounding regions. For Shruti, the occasion carried a deep emotional significance, prompting her to reflect on the people who made her journey possible.

Shruti

"Every film is special, but this one is different," she said. "I want to thank Dr Rajkumar sir for bringing me into the film industry. If I have been able to sustain myself here for so many years, I owe a great deal to the opportunities and faith people placed in me throughout my career."

Shruti used the moment to acknowledge the role producers have played in shaping her career.

"The director told me he would ensure that my 175th film remains memorable," she said. "But I told him to make sure the producers are equally proud of the film. Actors continue to work because producers believe in them. Their contribution should never be forgotten."

She also revealed that Mother is the first time she requested workshops before shooting. "In all these years, I had never asked for workshops for a film. But this story demanded preparation. I felt there was something fresh and honest in the team's approach, and I wanted to be fully ready for it," she added.

Actor Vinod Prabhakar, who attended the launch, spoke warmly about his long association with Shruti.

"I always call her Amma. Achieving 175 films is not easy. Very few artistes can claim such a milestone. What makes it special is that Shruti Amma has earned not just success but immense respect. There is simply no replacement for her."

Recalling their previous collaborations, Vinod added, "I've seen firsthand the energy she brings to a set. That passion has remained unchanged over the years, and that's why she continues to inspire so many actors."

Actor Chiranjeevi, who plays Shruti's son in the film, said he was excited to share screen space with the veteran performer.

Produced by Aarathi and K Satish Chandra under the Shanthu banner, Mother also stars Prasanna Shetty, Archana Hegde, Abhay Puneeth, Geethanjali and Himashree. The film will have music by Anjan, cinematography by U Ashwin, editing by Vasanth and lyrics by Nagarjuna Sharma.
